'Outstanding Citizens'

Two Honored At Chester

Two were honored as "outstanding citizens" when Chester American Legion Post 121 conducted its annual awards presentation Saturday night as a highlight of the past commanders' dinner attended by 100.

Sanford Graham (left) and Thomas Bowen were named recipients of the awards. Making the presentation of a trophy and citation is Comdr. Charles Casto (center).

Graham was honored for his service with the Chester volunteer fire department, especially during dragging operations in the Ohio River in the search for drowning victims. Bowen, superintendent of the street department, was cited for his outstanding work since becoming head of the department.

Charles A. Kuhn of Fairmont, department commander, was guest speaker.

Past commanders of Post 121 were introduced and presented gifts.

Dancing followed the dinner.

Finch Hits Justice Dept. On Filing Of School Suits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert H. Finch, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, says the Justice Department filed recent school desegregation suits in the South without consulting him.

Finch wrote off the incident as part of the birth pangs of a new administration, but he called for more coordination in the future.

"We're going to have to have a greater interface between the two—Justice and HEW—in this whole compliance area and across the nation," he said. "But we haven't been in office long enough to get that working relationship established yet."

Atty. Gen. John Mitchell filed the lawsuits in Louisiana and Houston a few days after Finch had described the cutting off of federal aid as the ultimate weapon in school segregation disputes.

In an interview with The Associated Press, Finch said the files on the Southern school districts were turned over to the attorney general. "The timing and the nature and the institution of these actions are entirely under his control, and are not done in relation to this department," he said.

Finch made these other points:

—His department is following, but re-examining, school desegregation guidelines inherited from the Democratic administration.

—The Supreme Court has prohibited "deliberate discrimination" but not segregation as such.

"if you look at the Supreme Court decision, segregation, in fact, is not prohibited by law," Finch said.

"What is prohibited is deliberate discrimination.

"And so you have to find hard evidence that someone, the people in a community, are deliberately creating situations which lead to discrimination.

"If segregation in fact were prohibited by law, what are you going to do with all the solid Negro schools in solid Negro areas in Northern cities?"

Finch said a proposal by a Nixon task force for setting a federal floor under welfare payments was being considered.

"It's not a case of taking over the functions of the states in the welfare field," he said. "It's a case of trying to find a brokerage, or a mean level, between the enormous disparity of an $8 figure in a Southern state or a $70 figure in an industrial state."

Finch said he hoped the welfare changes could be initiated before the end of the Vietnam war.

The secretary held out little hope for a massive block grant program that would pump billions of dollars of federal revenue into state and local economies.

"We're just spread too thin as long as we have the commitments we do abroad," he said.

Finch agreed with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller that states and cities face a major fiscal crisis, but disagreed with Rockefeller's suggestion that the federal surtax be continued to pay for some of the education costs now borne locally.

Finch said "I'm not sure we should get into the business of having a specific federal tax for education. Earmarking is sometimes dangerous, particularly on this scale."

The HEW official also rejected Rockefeller's proposal that the federal government eventually take over all welfare costs.

"I don't propose ... to take all of this $50 billion budget and go into the business of being a Department of the Dole," Finch said.

Congress Continues Slow Pace

Tax, A-Pact Hearings Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 91ht Congress, refreshed by 10 days off and a hefty pay raise, returned to Capitol Hill today with committee hearings on taxes and the nuclear nonproliferation treaty the major exceptions to another week of light activity.

Although the hearings are the first hard legislative work of the year, Congress is expected to continue for another month or so the slow pace that has marked the session since convening Jan. 3.

The House Ways and Means Committee begins its study of federal tax code reforms Tuesday with Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., the opening witness. He has been a major critic of the exempt status of many foundations and the amassing of large concentrations of economic power by some large businesses.

The hearings will last for months with final action not expected until next year.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee begins its hearing of the nuclear treaty, also on Tuesday, with Secretary of State William P. Rogers the lead-off witness.

The committee last year approved the pact, which is designed to stop the spread of atomic weapons, but the Senate did not act on the treaty because of reaction to the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

President Nixon, who as a candidate last year asked for delay in ratification, has since given his blessings.

The only significant event on the Hill today was the opening of the Senate-House Economic committee's annual review of the President's Economic Report, always an occasion for broad-scale discussion of national economic policy.

Also facing the returning legislators, who got a $12,500 yearly pay boost during their Lincoln's break, are possible controversial matters concerning malnutrition and the proposed name change of a House committee.

Little Change Slated For Next Few Days

The weatherman has decided to stand pat for the time being.

The forecast calls for partly cloudy with little change in temperature tonight and Tuesday.

Tonight's low will be in the 20s and tomorrow's high in the 30s.

Temperatures are due to average below normal through Saturday, with little day-to-day changes.

Missing: One Hydrant

One of our hydrants is missing.

Asst. Fire Chief James Pelley filed a report on the missing fireplug with police Saturday at 2:15 p.m. He said the hydrant disappeared from Brightview Dr.

Pelley said it appeared the hydrant was sheared off in a traffic accident and then carried away. He estimated the replacement cost at $500.

B52s Hit Red Sites As Cease-Fire Ends

Infantrymen Resume 60 Operations

Allies Will Ignore Rest Of Seven-Day Viet Cong Truce

SAIGON (AP) — The thunder of bombs from U.S. B52 bombers reverberated throughout Saigon tonight as U.S. and South Vietnamese forces resumed offensive operations after a 24-hour truce for the start of the lunar new year.

Allied infantrymen resumed some 60 operations they had interrupted briefly for the new year festival known as Tet, and U.S. warplanes went back into action. The aim was to maintain pressure on Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces so they could not repeat the Tet offensive which gave the allies such a setback last February.

The allied truce ended at 6 p.m. Saigon time, and 22 minutes later waves of B52s were dropping tons of explosives only 31 miles north of Saigon on the fringes of Communist War Zone D. Seven miles west of the capital, smaller American fighter-bombers attacked a Viet Cong bunker complex.

In the central highlands, American artillery opened fire on enemy troop concentrations near Kontum City 45 seconds after the truce ended.

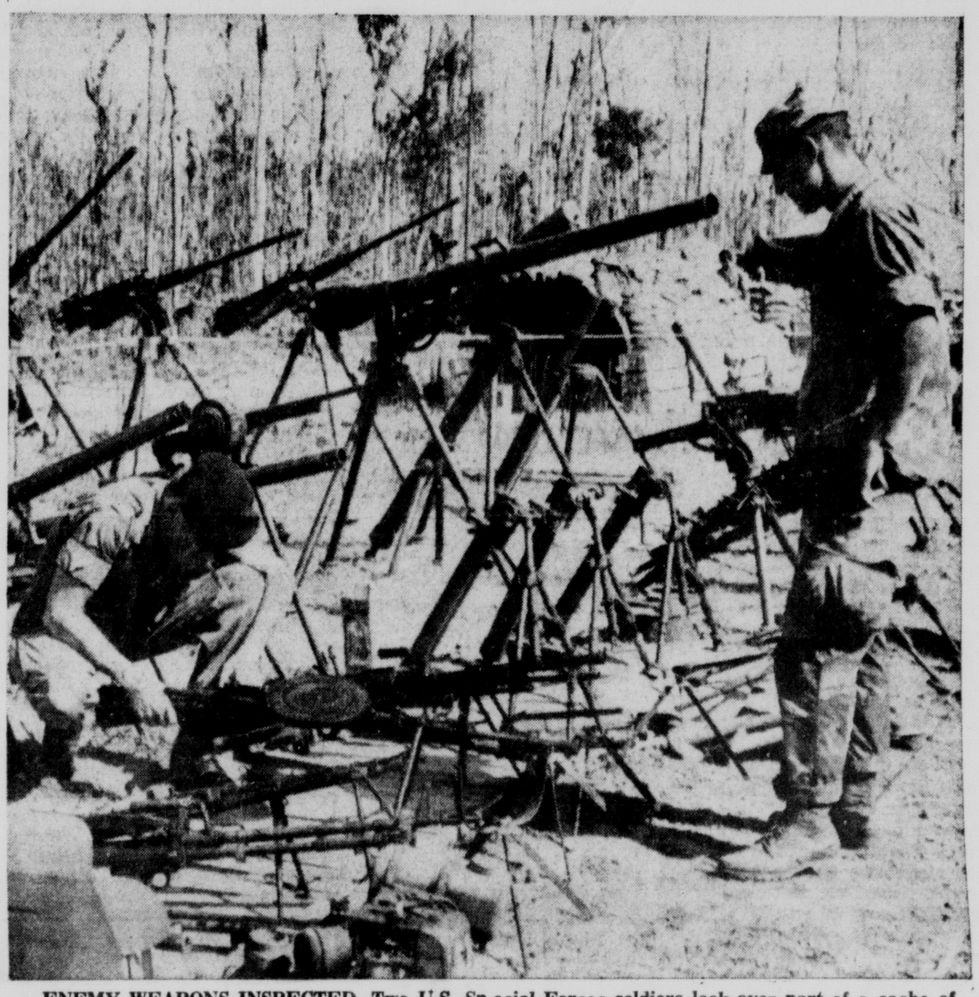

Military spokesmen said the allies would ignore the rest of the seven-day Viet Cong cease-fire, which runs until 7 a.m. Saturday, just as they ignored the first 35 hours of it.

U.S. headquarters said the enemy violated their own cease-fire and the period of allied truce with at least 170 attacks during the 53 hours from 7 a.m. Saturday until noon today.

Headquarters reported that 128 of these incidents occurred during the first 18 hours of the allied truce, including an attempt early today by hundreds of North Vietnamese to overrun a U.S. Marine artillery base near the Laotian border.

During the allied truce, U.S. headquarters said, eight Americans were killed and 71 wounded, while American forces killed at least 96 of the enemy and captured seven.

South Vietnamese headquarters announced that 16 government soldiers had been killed and 36 wounded since 7 a.m. Saturday. A spokesman said government troops killed 110 enemy soldiers and captured 61 during the same period.

Fine Morale Of Pueblo's Crew Cited

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — "We came out of this thing with amazing morale," said the Pueblo's executive officer. 'There was no brain washing. If anybody was brainwashed, it was the other side."

After the crew's return in December from North Korean imprisonment, Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr. also told newsmen: "We had absolute faith in the American government."

Murphy was recalled to testify today before a Navy court of inquiry shifting its focus from the mission and capture of the U.S. intelligence ship to the imprisonment of its men.

This begins the third and final phase of the court's month-long investigation ordered by the commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet.

The court of five admirals returned Saturday from what its president, Vice Adm. Harold G. Bowen Jr., described as an extremely useful inspection of the USS Palm Beach.

The Palm Beach, a sister ship of the Pueblo based at Norfolk, Va., gave the court "an appreciation of the situation on the Pueblo," said the civilian attorney for Pueblo skipper Lloyd M. Bucher.

Bucher stayed in San Diego doing administrative work for his crew and spending some time with his family.

Several Factors Indicate More Trouble

Payment Balance Surplus Doesn't End Dollar Drain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's first balance of payments surplus in over a decade was more apparent than real and should not be read as meaning the dollar drain has been ended, government spokesmen say.

In announcing the $190 million surplus for 1968, the Commerce Department said Sunday there were several factors indicating continued trouble in the United State's position.

For one thing, the steady flow of gold out of the country continued. The official U.S. stock of gold fell by nearly $1.2 billion during the year.

Also, the value of U.S. goods exported in 1968 only exceded the worth of products imported by less than $100 million. This important factor used to be billions of dollars in favor of the United States. In fact, the country exported $3.5 billion more than it bought from overseas in 1967, a year in which the United States suffered a total balance of payments deficit of $3.6 billion.

The balance of payments is a comparison of the total spent by American business, individuals and government on foreign goods and services against the value of U.S. products and services bought by overseas purchasers.

It includes everything from the few dollars a traveling Iowa schoolteacher pays for a trinket in Rome to the millions a U.S. shipline would pay for a Japanese-built oil tanker.

The Commerce Department said the first balance of payments surplus since 1957 was entirely due to a "pronounced shift" in the closing weeks of December culminating in a $960 million surplus for the quarter —enough to offset deficit figures in two of the three previous quarters.

"For most of the quarter the balance was adverse," the department said. "The extraordinary change probably reflected a coincidence of several developments."

Among them it cited:

—Sizeable amounts of capital being pulled back home by U.S. corporations. The firms were working against end-of-the-year deadlines to bring their 1968 investments in overseas branches below temporary ceilings imposed by the government.

—A sudden tightening of credit conditions in the United States in December, prompting companies with funds abroad to repatriate them.

—A flurry of cash coming in from other nations' purchases of U.S. military goods and services in the last few weeks of the year.

While such developments can cause short-run improvement in the figures, government policymakers attach greater significance to 1968's weak position of U.S. exports compared to imports.

Hague's Political Heirs Split Giant Postal Pacts

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — The political heirs of Boss Hague's old line Democratic Party machine have split up major construction contracts on a $40 million mail processing complex for the U.S. Post Office Department.

Among the contractors are a Democratic mayor, long allied with the Hudson County organization now headed by John V. Kenny, and an ex-convict with ties to the machine.

Another contract went to an electrical company whose business on public projects in the Jersey City-Newark area boomed after the son of a Mafia leader joined its payroll.

The $40 million price tag on the postal facility includes $26 million for construction, $12.6 million for automated equipment, and $1.7 million for acquiring and preparing the site, a 30-acre tract on a reclaimed garbage dump just across the Hudson River from Manhattan.

"The project will reflect progress from basement to roof," said John L. O'Marra, assistant postmaster general, at groundbreaking ceremonies last October.

It also has reflected, so far, the political realities of Northern New Jersey.

For example:

—The site is in the congressional district of Rep. Dominick Daniels, a Kenny protege and a member of the House Subcommittee on Postal Facilities.

—The Post Office Department awarded the design contract on June 29, 1961, to Comparetta and Kenny, Inc., of Jersey City. "Kenny" is Bernard F. Kenny (no relation to John V.) who was sentenced to one year in federal prison in 1955 for concealing his interest in an architectural firm that got two contracts from the Jersey City Re-

Ex-Grid Star To Testify At Sirhan's Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former football star Roosevelt Grier and others who saw the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy testify today before the jury trying Sirhan Bishara Sirhan for the murder.

Grier, a 280-pounder who played on the Los Angeles Rams team, bulldozed aside the crowd in the narrow pantry of the Ambassador Hotel where Kennedy was shot, then pounced on the 112-pound Sirhan.

"Don't let anything happen to him," Grier shouted when the crowd menaced Sirhan. "We want him alive."

Vincent Thomas Dipierro, a part-time waiter whose father is maitre d' at the hotel, was scheduled as today's leadoff witness. He testified Friday that he was about five feet from the senator when he observed the flash from the first shot.

Others on the prosecution witness schedule as the trial began its first full week of testimony

5 Weekend Crashes

Dresden Mishap Hurts Driver, 46

A 46 year-old district driver was admitted to City Hospital with injuries suffered at 2 a.m. today when his auto veered off Dresden Ave. near Trentvale St. and crashed into guardrails, police reported.

Robert E. Buckley of RD 1 told Patrolman David Huffman he was driving south about 35 miles an hour when an oncoming auto forced him off the street. The 1961 sedan hit the fence on the west side of Dresden and then spun around on the roadway and stopped facing east. The entire front end was damaged.

At the time of the accident investigation, Buckley told the officer he was unhurt. However, he went to City Hospital at 4:22 complaining of a severe headache, pains in the right side of the neck and dizziness. He was admitted for X-rays.

ANOTHER district driver was cited on two charges as the result of a collision Saturday at 7:40 p.m. on W. 8th St. at Edwards Ave., police said.

Patrolman Charles Coen cited Daniel R. Shingler, 28, of Wellsville RD 1 for leaving the scene of an accident and failure to yield the right-of-way.

The officer said Shingler's 1961 sedan was involved in a collision with a 1968 sedan operated by Mike Mule, 19, of 617 E. State St., Salem.

Mule was driving east on W. 8th St. and Shingler pulled into his path from Edwards Ave., officers said. Shingler left the scene, but was apprehended later on Irish Ridge Rd., officers said. There was extensive damage to the right front of Mule's auto. The left rear fender, bumper and tail light of the Shingler car were damaged.

—:—

A TURNING auto and a parked car were damaged in a mishap Sunday at 6:30 p.m. at 5th and Market Sts., police said.

The collision involved a 1962 four - door sedan driven by George Edward Grafton, 64, of 460 14th St., Wellsville, and a parked 1966 four - door sedan owned by Edwin Greenwood of 92 Bradshaw Ave.

Grafton told police he was traveling north on Market St. and turning left onto 5th St. when he looked away momentarily and his car hit the rear of the Greenwood auto, which was parked on 5th St.

There was damage to the right front of the Grafton car and the left rear of the Greenwood vehicle.

—:—

A MISHAP at Andrews and Penn Aves. Saturday at 5:15 p.m. damaged a 1964 sedan driven by Nancy M. DeSarro, 45, of 1732 Globe St. and a 1962 model station wagon operated by Charles L. Harris, 18, of Dixonville, officers said.

Harris was stopped for a stop sign at the intersection and the woman was turning from Pennsylvania Ave. onto Andrews Ave. when her car hit the Harris auto on the left front, officers said.

A parked 1969 model car was damaged on the rear bumper in a mishap Saturday at 4:58 p.m. on Spring Grove Ave., officers said.

The parked sedan owned by Melvin F. Brown of Spring Grove Ave. was bumped by a backing truck operated by Gerald Lee Grimm, 27, of S. Surrey Rd. The truck was undamaged.

—:—

POLICE ALSO filed a report Saturday on a collision Friday afternoon at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. in which five were injured.

The crash involved a 1963 sedan driven by Janet I. Gamble, 26, of 3rd Ave., LaCroft, and a 1962 model tractor-trailer operated by Jacob E. Diehl, 27, of New Brighton and owned by Lyle C. Blum of East Palestine, officers said.

Mrs. Gamble said she was halted for a traffic light at the junction of W. 8th St. and a Freeway ramp. As the light changed to green, three vehicles crashed the traffic signal, including the tractor - trailer, which collided with her auto, Mrs. Gamble told officers.

Diehl told police the light changed from red to green just as he approached it and he followed two other vehicles through the intersection. He said the light was not changing as he approached the intersection. The tractor-trailer was moving east and the auto was proceeding north, officers said.

Narick Claims He's Ahead In USW Voting

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Emil Narick, underdog in the United Steelworkers international election, says his tabulation of votes in last week's election shows him ahead of incumbent president I.W. Abel with 50 per cent of the vote recorded.

Narick, however, refused to issue any projections.

"We have dealt only with proven established facts all along, and we will continue to do so," he said. "Only the tellers can issue any official results that have any real meaning.

The figures released by Abel's campaign headquarters and an Associated Press survey showed Narick losing to Abel in Tuesday's election. Some 400,000 of the union's 1.2 million members voted.

The count won't be official until all ballots are certified by union tellers. This could take until May 1.

Narick also said Sunday he's asked all district directors to release to him the voting records of their locals.

In a telegram to the 38 directors, Narick said he was entitled to the information since it had already been supplied to Abel.

He also said he sent a telegram to the international tellers asking for one of his own observers to be present during the official tabulation.

"I have an obligation," he said, "to protect the rights of all the steelworker voter-members and those of the thousands of members that have supported my candidacy to assure that the election is fair and honest."

An Abel campaign chairman, Jim Griffis of Youngstown, said "Narick's allegations are baseless and his claims of a substantial margin of victory are fantastic and cannot be substantiated."

"I'm certain when the official results are in, it will be in complete accord with the unofficial ally taken and show Abel winning by some 75,000 votes," he said.

5 Weekend Crashes

Dresden Mishap Hurts Driver, 46

A 46 year-old district driver was admitted to City Hospital with injuries suffered at 2 a.m. today when his auto veered off Dresden Ave. near Trentvale St. and crashed into guardrails, police reported.

Robert E. Buckley of RD 1 told Patrolman David Huffman he was driving south about 35 miles an hour when an oncoming auto forced him off the street. The 1961 sedan hit the fence on the west side of Dresden and then spun around on the roadway and stopped facing east. The entire front end was damaged.

At the time of the accident investigation, Buckley told the officer he was unhurt. However, he went to City Hospital at 4:22 complaining of a severe headache, pains in the right side of the neck and dizziness. He was admitted for X-rays.

—:—

ANOTHER district driver was cited on two charges as the result of a collision Saturday at 7:40 p.m. on W. 8th St. at Edwards Ave., police said.

Patrolman Charles Coen cited Daniel R. Shingler, 28, of Wellsville RD 1 for leaving the scene of an accident and failure to yield the right-of-way.

The officer said Shingler's 1961 sedan was involved in a collision with a 1968 sedan operated by Mike Mule, 19, of 617 E. State St., Salem.

Mule was driving east on W. 8th St. and Shingler pulled into his path from Edwards Ave., officers said. Shingler left the scene, but was apprehended later on Irish Ridge Rd., officers said. There was extensive damage to the right front of Mule's auto. The left rear fender, bumper and tail light of the Shingler car were damaged.

—:—

A TURNING auto and a parked car were damaged in a mishap Sunday at 6:30 p.m. at 5th and Market Sts., police said.

The collision involved a 1962 four - door sedan driven by George Edward Grafton, 64, of 460 14th St., Wellsville, and a parked 1966 four - door sedan owned by Edwin Greenwood of 92 Bradshaw Ave.

Grafton told police he was traveling north on Market St. and turning left onto 5th St. when he looked away momentarily and his car hit the rear of the Greenwood auto, which was parked on 5th St.

There was damage to the right front of the Grafton car and the left rear of the Greenwood vehicle.

A MISHAP at Andrews and Penn Aves. Saturday at 5:15 p.m. damaged a 1964 sedan driven by Nancy M. DeSarro, 45, of 1732 Globe St. and a 1962 model station wagon operated by Charles L. Harris, 18, of Dixonville, officers said.

Harris was stopped for a stop sign at the intersection and the woman was turning from Pennsylvania Ave. onto Andrews Ave. when her car hit the Harris auto on the left front, officers said.

A parked 1969 model car was damaged on the rear bumper in a mishap Saturday at 4:58 p.m. on Spring Grove Ave., officers said.

The parked sedan owned by Melvin F. Brown of Spring Grove Ave. was bumped by a backing truck operated by Gerald Lee Grimm, 27, of S. Surrey Rd. The truck was undamaged.

POLICE ALSO filed a report Saturday on a collision Friday afternoon at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. in which five were injured.

The crash involved a 1963 sedan driven by Janet I. Gamble, 26, of 3rd Ave., LaCroft, and a 1962 model tractor-trailer operated by Jacob E. Diehl, 27, of New Brighton and owned by Lyle C. Blum of East Palestine, officers said.

Mrs. Gamble said she was halted for a traffic light at the junction of W. 8th St. and a Freeway ramp. As the light changed to green, three vehicles crashed the traffic signal, including the tractor - trailer, which collided with her auto, Mrs. Gamble told officers.

Diehl told police the light changed from red to green just as he approached it and he followed two other vehicles through the intersection. He said the light was not changing as he approached the intersection. The tractor-trailer was moving east and the auto was proceeding north, officers said.

The crash damaged the entire front end and the left rear fender of the car. It tore loose a strap on the gas tank of the rig.

The case of Daniel R. Shingler, 28, of Wellsville RD 1 was continued until Feb. 25 for sentencing on charges of failure to yield the right-of-way and leaving the scene of an accident. He pleaded guilty to both counts.

Shingler was cited in connection with a mishap Saturday night at W. 8th St. and Edwards Ave. Mike Mule, 19, of Salem, the other driver, estimated $500 damage to his auto. The court told Shingler if he makes arrangements to pay for the damage to Mule's auto that fact will be taken into consideration when sentence is pronounced.

Narick Claims He's Ahead In USW Voting

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Emil Narick, underdog in the United Steelworkers international election, says his tabulation of votes in last week's election shows him ahead of incumbent president I.W. Abel with 50 per cent of the vote recorded.

Narick, however, refused to issue any projections.

"We have dealt only with proven established facts all along, and we will continue to do so," he said. "Only the tellers can issue any official results that have any real meaning.

The figures released by Abel's campaign headquarters and an Associated Press survey showed Narick losing to Abel in Tuesday's election. Some 400,000 of the union's 1.2 million members voted.

The count won't be official until all ballots are certified by union tellers. This could take until May 1.

Narick also said Sunday he's asked all district directors to release to him the voting records of their locals.

In a telegram to the 38 directors, Narick said he was entitled to the information since it had already been supplied to Abel.

He also said he sent a telegram to the international tellers asking for one of his own observers to be present during the official tabulation.

"I have an obligation," he said, "to protect the rights of all the steelworker voter-members and those of the thousands of members that have supported my candidacy to assure that the election is fair and honest."

An Abel campaign chairman, Jim Griffis of Youngstown, said "Narick's allegations are baseless and his claims of a substantial margin of victory are fantastic and cannot be substantiated."

"I'm certain when the official results are in, it will be in complete accord with the unofficial ally taken and show Abel winning by some 75,000 votes," he said.

New Direction In Foreign Aid

The concept that aid to developing nations can be handled more efficiently by private enterprise than by governments will be explored thoroughly Sunday.

The opportunity for frank discussions about lagging private investment in poor countries will come as a result of a meeting in Amsterdam between Western bankers and industrialists and officials of 14 nations that need help.

Financiers will represent the United States, Britain, Italy, Switzerland, West Germany, Japan, Canada and Sweden.

THE 14 DEVELOPING countries taking part in the meeting include Argentina, Brazil, Chad, Chile, Ghana, India, Indonesia, Iran, Ivory Coast, Jamaica, Kenya, Libya, Pakistan and Turkey.

Congress, in the last session, chopped the administration's foreign aid program almost in half. The final spending appropriation for fiscal 1969 was $1.75 billion — representing the lowest level in the program's 21-year history.

With domestic spending spiraling, the mood of the country is not likely to swing toward substantial increases in foreign aid. The tapering off of U.S. aid funding, however, does not erase the need for capital investment in underdeveloped regions of the world.

The job of taking up the slack falls to private enterprise. How the challenge will be met is the main topic of the Amsterdam conference.

Shortly before he left office, President Johnson was given recommendations by two different advisory groups advocating the establishment of semiautonomous government corporation — run by businessmen — to assist American investors and corporations set up operations in developing countries.

When President Nixon was a candidate, he said American foreign aid was "spread far too thin in too many countries in too many projects."

He suggested we turn "our aid programs more in the direction of stimulating private enterprise, less in the direction of financing government enterprise."

HE ALSO MADE a point of being honest about the practical motivation behind foreign aid and stripped away the false image that it is a great humanitarian endeaver when he said:

"Neither abroad nor at home can we expect our civilization to be secure in a sea of angry exiles. In the world city as well as our own, we can preserve our hard-won abundance only by bringing the have-nots within the affluent society. America's basic self-interest in world development stems from the brutal fact that there can be no sanctuary for the rich in a world of the starving."

The Amsterdam get-together will seek to channel private enterprise efforts into foreign aid on the basis of self-interest.

The 'Welcoming Committees'

President Nixon will begin his nine-day tour of Western Europe Feb. 23 expecting to meet with the heads of five governments and Pope Paul VI. His announced purpose is to strengthen and revitalize the North Atlantic community.

Apparently, according to reports from Europe, he also may "meet" hostile demonstrators—out to weaken, in any way they can, the North Atlantic community and any other military arrangement in which the United States is involved.

MR. NIXON PLANS to spend one day in Paris discussing strategy for the Vietnam peace talks.

The demonstrators plan to encounter the President in at least three cities during his tour, and in Paris the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor has scheduled an "action week"in support of their anti-American position on the Vietnam War.

The Communists have expressed their displeasure with the President's plan to visit Berlin. Now word comes from West Berlin that a group of radical leftist students have vowed to disrupt his visit there.

The students have labeled the President as "the shifting agent of the reactionary wing of the American bourgeoisie."

President Nixon has said that he looks on his trip as a first step in strenghtening and revitalizing the American-European communty which, in turn, he believes "is vital to the future of peace for the United States and for the world."

Though he goes to Europe concerned about peace, he will be met by those hostile to his purpose. In London, leftists have declared that anti-Vietnam War demonstrators will give the President a hot reception."

Mr. Nixon is no stranger to greetings of this type. He was assailed and spat upon in Latin America during the Eisenhower years."

BUT IT IS SHAMEFUL that the head of state of any nation should be subjected to such indignities. It can't help but take something away from his image and the image of the nation he represents.

And that, obviously, is the purpose of those whose actions are designed to accomplish just that tarnish and disparage the United States.

As Americans watch the television coverage of these confrontations, there will be a tendency to resent the people and the governments of the nations where the affronts to our president occur.

It is important to know the political coloration and affiliation of the demonstrating groups.

Keeping Pledge

Announcement of a congressional study is not usually an occasion for rejoicing — not even if it is reform-inspired — because of the time lag between the 'look' and the necessary 'leap'.

Nevertheless, a small fire of hope has been kindled in hearts of American taxpayers by the House Ways and Means Committee's scheduled review of the nation's tax laws.

THE COMMITTEE, under the chairmanship of Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., has pledged a wide-ranging investigation of the federal tax code — that is something that hasn't been done in 15 years.

Timely Quotes

"The youngster hears the H-bomb ticking away much louder than his elders do."
—Supreme Court Justice William A. Douglas.

"I thought it was a pretty good likeness, except for one little detail. It left off the halo."

The Great Expectation

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — One of the most moving things to see in Washington is a new presidential appointee taking over a department of the government. The appointee arrives all fired up with ideas on how to streamline the department and run it on a more profitable, businesslike basis.

Art Buchwald

The civil service employes, who eat presidential appointees for breakfast, always look forward to the first meeting between themselves and their new boss.

I attended one the other day in the department auditorium and sat in the audience with 2,000 employes.

The presidential appointee, after being introduced by a career officer of the department (who used the same introduction given for Warren Harding's appointee some years back), got up and said:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, first I would like to say how happy Mrs. Sinecure and I are to be in Washington. I don't believe there is anything more challenging than the work we will have to do together."

The man in front of me said to his friend, "I give him six months."

The secretary continued: "I am aware that I cannot do this job alone. I will have to depend on each and every one of you to help me achieve the goals that the President and the country are expecting of us."

"I'll give him three months," the friend replied.

"I am not one of those fellows who comes in as a know-it-all. I'm willing to learn and I'm willing to listen and I'm willing to get all the facts."

THE MAN IN FRONT said, "Next he's going to say his door will be open to us, anytime."

Sinecure continued, "My door will be open to any of you, anytime."

The man behind me whispered to his friend, "I think he really believes it."

I have been working day and night studying reports of this department, many submitted by you, and I assure you that while I have nothing critical to say about my predecessor, we will have to make many reforms and changes if we ever hope to rectify the errors of the previous administration during the last eight years."

The man in front of me said, He hasn't said anything about serving the people."

"Our job is to serve the people," Sinecure continued. "We owe it to the American taxpayer to do away with waste and duplication and get this department on a business footing again."

The friend of the man in front said, "Wait till they ask him to cut his budget."

"I am also concerned about morale. You people cannot do your job unless you are backed by me, and let me say, ladies and gentlemen, you will have my backing."

THE MAN BEHIND SAID, "I guess he hasn't been before a congressional committee yet."

Sinecure kept going: "This is a bright new day for the department. The dark clouds that hovered over this building for the past eight years will disappear and it is my fervent prayer that you and I will walk together in the sun once more. Now, I'll accept questions."

The man behind me stood up. "Since Washington's birthday falls on a Saturday," he asked, "can we still take off Mondays and be paid for it?"

They are eager to sit with President Nixon's councils, as do other labor leaders. They want to submerge the toughs and ride the tide. Publicly, at least.

Most of them, through their channels, are passing word on to "Jimmy" that he's through. And that he can no longer dispatch directives from his federal penitentiary cell. And that they're ready to forget him. And he must now forget his subterranean campaign for reelection as national general president at their July 1971 convention in Las Vegas. He gambled, they say. He lost. He's finished.

During their recent sun tanned sessions in Hollywood by the Sea, Fla., most of the Teamsters General Executive Board told each other "Jimmy's case is hopeless." He has appealed his jury tampering eight-year conviction five times in the Supreme Court and his Chicago pension fund million-dollar mail fraud five-year conviction twice.

JIMMY HOFFA's muscled image was kept alive by almost lifeless 79-year-old John English, Teamster secretary-treasurer until his death Feb. 3. Teamsters are tough but they respected "the old man," who knew where the bodies were buried and who told Hoffa's enemies to go "straight to hell."

But now the Teamsters chiefs are saying they're no longer hung up on Hoffa. A chap considered one of the Brotherhood's "new faces" musingly told a visitor the other day, "we want in on the big time and we can go it alone on the labor front."

"Our aim is to build the best possible relationship with Mr. Nixon at this time," he added. "We made a point during the elections not to offend this fellow. We supported Nixon over Kennedy in 1960 and some of our people did during the last campaign. We did get some of our guys who are Republicans to work hard for him.

"We are looking for a conference with the President now and have already established contact with some departments. Of course we'll have White House contacts. We did during Johnson's time, through Marvin Watson and a young attorney, Jim Jones."

It's not certain yet what the Teamsters mean by "going it alone." There have been talks among some leaders of the AFL-CIO, whose high command now has gathered in Bal Harbour, Fla., and some of the Brotherhood. These secret conversations, always described as "unofficial," always pivot around the merging of the AFL-CIO and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters into a mammoth juggernaut of over 16 million members.

BUT THEN COMES NEWS of the quiet conferences Acting General President Frank (Fitz) Fitzsimmons and his general staff have been having with auto union chief Walter Reuther and his top officers, such as Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey.

They all met in the Teamsters' Taj Mahal here Feb. 3 and 4. The Teamsters always make certain labor's inner circles get wind of these talks. The auto unionists are terser and more reluctant to let anything seep out.

The Teamster image-makers know it won't hurt them to stir the intellectual world with thoughts of the wedding of their power with Reuther's oratorical left-of-center reputation. But they're not giving the auto union chief the gung-ho signal for that all-out inner city community action drive he wants so much to unleash with his new Alliance for Labor Action (ALA).

So the best that came out of the two-day conference the other day was the appointment of a joint housing committee to explore Washington for a possible ALA headquarters and report back.

Thus plays one of the dramas which will stir the country around about the time the Nixon administration newness wears off. The Teamsters want to become American labor's third force.

THEIR HEART, AND A TOUGH, muscled and untransplanted one it is, still belongs to their old friends in the AFL-CIO. Their bargaining instincts tell them to deal with Walter Reuther and leave their options open.

If they do return to the big labor federation, they'll pay some $2 million annually in dues. The per capita tax will be far less in the still gossamer Reutherite labor alliance.

So they, in effect, keep asking each side what they can get for their money. Then, without really awaiting an answer, they merrily roll along.

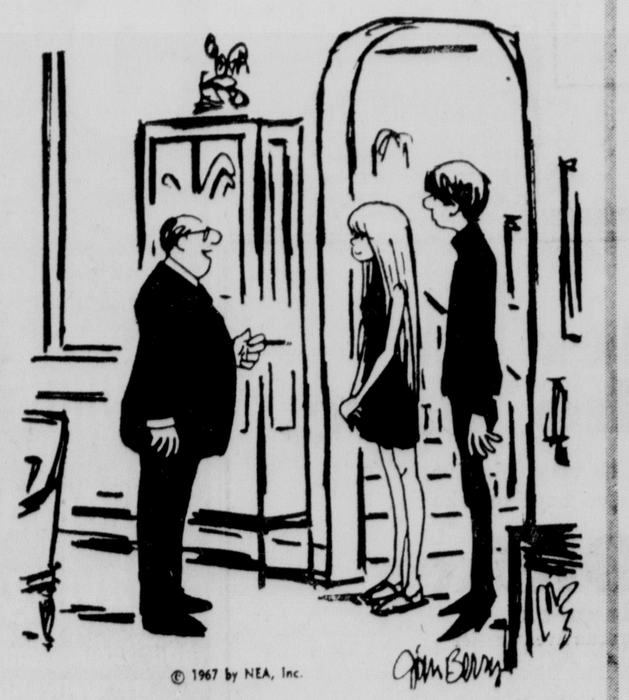

In New York state, they've got one of their toughest district men negotiating with local policemen, offering them money and manpower with which to build unions. In many cities, the "Teamos" are going after strategic civil service employes — including teachers and school principals. In Washington, they're developing several new intellectuals in residence.

They've waited until just about the time Jimmy Hoffa is about to begin his third year in prison. With "Jimmy" now apparently destined to be one of the big men in Prison Industries shoe-and mattress-making for a long time, they're beginning to like their unaligned status. They're taking this third force thing seriously. All they need do now is to take those old bulges out of their image.

It will take a lot of smoothing.

Meddling By Congress

Scarcely noticed but profoundly important to the conduct of foreign policy by the President is the action of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee a few days ago in announcing the formation of a special subcommittee to review "the international military commitments of the United States and their relationship to foreign policy."

Under the Constitution, the president conducts foreign relations and, as commander-in-chief of the armed forces, he supervises the military operations of the United Sates here and abroad. For Congress to endeavor to intervene in the making of military and foreign policy would not be objectionable if efforts were confined to advice given to the chief executive in private councils.

THE SENATE Foreign Relations Committee, however, in its statement of purposes, says that the subcommittee will not limit its hearings to close meetings but will also have "public" sessions.

This means that a committee of Congress will be raising questions about the continuance of American commitments abroad and that the handling of negotiations with other governments by the President will be subject to handicaps which could impair the normal processes of diplomatic intercourse.

Certainly the Communists will take advantage of this opportunity to create doubts throughout the world about American resoluteness. Latin-American nations, for instance, which have been closely allied with this country may be led to believe that the constructive policies applied in the past toward other nations on this continent now are to be modified materially, if not abandoned.

The statement by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee points out that the United States is by treaty committed "under varying circumstances, to use its armed forces in defense of 42 countries." But the Senate itself has ratified these treaties, and, according to the words of the Constitution, they have become the "supreme law of the land."

Five major resolutions by Congress also are mentioned in the Foreign Relations Committee announcement as having delegated "various degrees of authority to the president to involve the United States in military, economic or political action abroad—in Formosa and the Pescadores, the Middle East, Berlin, Cuba, and Southeast Asia."

A RE-EXAMINATION of all such resolutions is, of course, within the power of Congress. But a public questioning by a Senate committee of the many delicate aspects of America's relations with other countries of the world might do more harm than good. It could interfere with the handling of important negotiations.

Foreign governments, moreover, may begin to wonder whether hereafter a president whose party does not have a majority in the Senate is to be controlled in the making of foreign policy by the opposite political party and whether existing commitments are to be weakened or even forsaken.

Incidentally, the Senate has an Armed Services Committee which is supposed to deal with military programs and the allocation of public funds for these purposes. Defense appropriations have not hitherto been passed upon by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

So it becomes pertinent to ask why the latter group now feels it has the right publicly to cast doubt on the reasons—often necessarily a secret matter—why the executive branch of the government has been authorizing military installations or the presence of American forces in certain countries.

While the North Atlantic Treaty, for instance, has been ratified by the Senate, the decision whether to leave a certain number of troops in Europe to help defend that continent is a military question that is closely related to the defense of the United States.

IT CERTAINLY WOULD BE establishing a precedent for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to consider itself authorized to review the military operations of the armed services by citing as an excuse that this has an "impact" on foreign policy.

The most important question raised, however, is whether the United States will keep its word when it promises to help other nations or whether an opposition political party can meddle at will with foreign relations.

Whatever the reasons, political or other, such action will create the impression that Congress does not have enough confidence in the president to permit him, as the Constitution provides, to conduct foreign policy.

New Direction In Foreign Aid

The concept that aid to developing nations can be handled more efficiently by private enterprise than by governments will be explored thoroughly Sunday.

The opportunity for frank discussions about lagging private investment in poor countries will come as a result of a meeting in Amsterdam between Western bankers and industrialists and officials of 14 nations that need help.

Financiers will represent the United States, Britain, Italy, Switzerland, West Germany, Japan, Canada and Sweden.

THE 14 DEVELOPING countries taking part in the meeting include Argentina, Brazil, Chad, Chile, Ghana, India, Indonesia, Iran, Ivory Coast, Jamaica, Kenya, Libya, Pakistan and Turkey.

Congress, in the last session, chopped the administration's foreign aid program almost in half. The final spending appropriation for fiscal 1969 was $1.75 billion — representing the lowest level in the program's 21-year history.

With domestic spending spiraling, the mood of the country is not likely to swing toward substantial increases in foreign aid. The tapering off of U.S. aid funding, however, does not erase the need for capital investment in underdeveloped regions of the world.

The job of taking up the slack falls to private enterprise. How the challenge will be met is the main topic of the Amsterdam conference.

Shortly before he left office, President Johnson was given recommendations by two different advisory groups advocating the establishment of semiautonomous government corporation — run by businessmen — to assist American investors and corporations set up operations in developing countries.

When President Nixon was a candidate, he said American foreign aid was "spread far too thin in too many countries in too many projects."

He suggested we turn "our aid programs more in the direction of stimulating private enterprise, less in the direction of financing government enterprise."

HE ALSO MADE a point of being honest about the practical motivation behind foreign aid and stripped away the false image that it is a great humanitarian endeavor when he said:

"Neither abroad nor at home can we expect our civilization to be secure in a sea of angry exiles. In the world city as well as our own, we can preserve our hard-won abundance only by bringing the have-nots within the affluent society. America's basic self-interest in world development stems from the brutal fact that there can be no sanctuary for the rich in a world of the starving."

The Amsterdam get-together will seek to channel private enterprise efforts into foreign aid on the basis of self-interest.

The 'Welcoming Committees'

President Nixon will begin his nine-day tour of Western Europe Feb. 23 expecting to meet with the heads of five governments and Pope Paul VI. His announced purpose is to strengthen and revitalize the North Atlantic community.

Apparently, according to reports from Europe, he also may "meet" hostile demonstrators—out to weaken, in any way they can, the North Atlantic community and any other military arrangement in which the United States is involved.

MR. NIXON PLANS to spend one day in Paris discussing strategy for the Vietnam peace talks.

The demonstrators plan to encournter the President in at least three cities during his tour, and in Paris the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor has scheduled an "action week"in support of their anti-American position on the Vietnam War.

The Communists have expressed their displeasure with the President's plan to visit Berlin. Now word comes from West Berlin that a group of radical leftist students have vowed to disrupt his visit there.

The students have labeled the President as "the shifting agent of the reactionary wing of the American bourgeoisie."

President Nixon has said that he looks on his trip as a first step in strenghtening and revitalizing the American-European community which, in turn, he believes "is vital to the future of peace for the United States and for the world."

Though he goes to Europe concerned about peace, he will be met by those hostile to his purpose. In London, leftists have declared that anti-Vietnam War demonstrators will give the Preident a hot reception."

Mr. Nixon is no stranger to greetings of this type. He was assailed and spat upon in Latin America during the Eisenhower years."

BUT IT IS SHAMEFUL that the head of state of any nation should be subjected to such indignities. It can't help but take something away from his image and the image of the nation he represents.

And that, obviously, is the purpose of those whose actions are designed to accomplish just that tarnish and disparage the United States.

As Americans watch the television coverage of these confrontations, there will be a tendency to resent the people and the governments of the nations where the affronts to our president occur.

It is important to know the political coloration and affiliation of the demonstrating groups.

Keeping Pledge

Announcement of a congressional study is not usually an occasion for rejoicing — not even if it is reform-inspired — because of the time lag between the 'look' and the necessary 'leap'.

Nevertheless, a small fire of hope has been kindled in hearts of American taxpayers by the House Ways and Means Committee's scheduled review of the nation's tax laws.

THE COMMITTEE, under the chairmanship of Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., has pledged a wide-ranging investigation of the federal tax code — that is something that hasn't been done in 15 years.

The Great Expectation

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — One of the most moving things to see in Washington is a new presidential appointee taking over a department of the government. The appointee arrives all fired up with ideas on how to streamline the department and run it on a more profitable, businesslike basis.

Art Buchwald

The civil service employes, who eat presidential appointees for breakfast, always look forward to the first meeting between themselves and their new boss.

I attended one the other day in the department auditorium and sat in the audience with 2,000 employes.

The presidential appointee, after being introduced by a career officer of the department (who used the same introduction given for Warren Harding's appointee some years back), got up and said:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, first I would like to say how happy Mrs. Sinecure and I are to be in Washington. I don't believe there is anything more challenging than the work we will have to do together."

The man in front of me said to his friend, "I give him six months."

The secretary continued: "I am aware that I cannot do this job alone. I will have to depend on each and every one of you to help me achieve the goals that the President and the country are expecting of us."

"I'll give him three months," the friend replied.

"I am not one of those fellows who comes in as a know-it-all. I'm willing to learn and I'm willing to listen and I'm willing to get all the facts."

THE MAN IN FRONT said, "Next he's going to say his door will be open to us, anytime."

Sinecure continued, "My door will be open to any of you, anytime."

The man behind me whispered to his friend, "I think he really believes it."

I have been working day and night studying reports of this department, many submitted by you, and I assure you that while I have nothing critical to say about my predecessor, we will have to make many reforms and changes if we ever hope to rectify the errors of the previous administration during the last eight years."

The man in front of me said, He hasn't said anything about serving the people."

"Our job is to serve the people," Sinecure continued. "We owe it to the American taxpayer to do away with waste and duplication and get this department on a business footing again."

The friend of the man in front said, "Wait till they ask him to cut his budget."

"I am also concerned about morale. You people cannot do your job unless you are backed by me, and let me say, ladies and gentlemen, you will have my backing."

THE MAN BEHIND SAID, "I guess he hasn't been before a congressional committee yet."

Sinecure kept going: "This is a bright new day for the department. The dark clouds that hovered over this building for the past eight years will disappear and it is my fervent prayer that you and I will walk together in the sun once more. Now, I'll accept questions."

The man behind me stood up. "Since Washington's birthday falls on a Saturday," he asked, "can we still take off Mondays and be paid for it?"

The End Of Hoffa's Trail

WASHINGTON — With more than two million members making them the free world's biggest union, the Teamsters want to drive deep into the mainstream of American life and politics.

Most of the sprawling union's high command just don't believe Jimmy Hoffa is their "thing" any longer.

They are eager to sit with President Nixon's councils, as do other labor leaders. They want to submerge the toughs and ride the tide. Publicly, at least.

Most of them, through their channels, are passing word on to "Jimmy" that he's through. And that he can no longer dispatch directives from his federal penitentiary cell. Beaver May Lose Three Road Jobs

A Pennsylvania State Highways Department spokesman said that three Beaver County Highway projects totaling $15,100,000 may go by the boards unless the legislature approves a long-term borrowing plan to pay for them.

The spokesman said the projects stand to be pulled off this year's construction schedule if a capital funds budget bill isn't approved in its entirety.

Plans call for the state to pay 84 per cent, or $12,700,000, of the cost.

The most expensive project calls for 1.4 miles of four-lane divided highway to be built in Freedom Borough. The state is due to pay the entire $8 million

The Beaver Valley Expressway in Chippewa Township calls for 2.6 miles of four-lane highway and nine bridges at a proposed cost of $7 million, $4.6 million of which the state is scheduled to pay.

A legislative road in New Brighton one - tenth of a mile long and consisting of a two-lane bridge and approaches will require $100,000 to be paid fully by the state.

Highways Secretary Robert G. Bartlett has pleaded with legislative leaders to authorize the increase of auto and station wagon registration fees to $20 a year and truck fees by 41 per cent to produce $66.9 million in additional revenue.

He said the state's six-year roadbuilding program will be curtailed if these funds are not forthcoming for the 1970 registrations.

Beaver May Lose Three Road Jobs

A Pennsylvania State Highways Department spokesman said that three Beaver County Highway projects totaling $15,100,000 may go by the boards unless the legislature approves a long-term borrowing plan to pay for them.

The spokesman said the projects stand to be pulled off this year's construction schedule if a capital funds budget bill isn't approved in its entirety.

Plans call for the state to pay 84 per cent, or $12,700,000, of the cost.

The most expensive project calls for 1.4 miles of four-lane divided highway to be built in Freedom Borough. The state is due to pay the entire $8 million

The Beaver Valley Expressway in Chippewa Township calls for 2.6 miles of four-lane highway and nine bridges at a proposed cost of $7 million, $4.6 million of which the state is scheduled to pay.

A legislative road in New Brighton one - tenth of a mile long and consisting of a two-lane bridge and approaches will require $100,000 to be paid fully by the state.

Highways Secretary Robert G. Bartlett has pleaded with legislative leaders to authorize the increase of auto and station wagon registration fees to $20 a year and truck fees by 41 per cent to produce $66.9 million in additional revenue.

He said the state's six-year roadbuilding program will be curtailed if these funds are not forthcoming for the 1970 registrations.

NEW 'OIL CATCHER.' William Slusarczyk of Ohioville, electrical project engineer, and C. C. Almasi of Brighton Township, pollution control engineer at Crucible Steel Division, check the operation of a new oil reclamation system at the Midland plant.

Reclaims Oil

Crucible Launches New Pollution Control Facility

Crucible Steel Corporation's Midland Division has taken a new step toward control of water pollution with the start-up of an oil reclamation system that removes petroleum contaminants from waste waters before discharge into the Ohio River.

The system, capable of removing 500,000 to 700,000 gallons of oil a year from waste water of the Hot and Cold Strip Rolling Mills, was conceived by and built under the direction of Midland Division's Engineering Department.

It is believed to be the first operational method of its kind in the steel industry. Cost of the high - efficiency unit was $250,000.

Oil - laden water entering the system from the rolling mills first is subjected to a skimming action in the initial settling chamber, thus removing the heavier viscosity lubricants.

Lighter viscosity and water-soluble materials are then pumped into the more intricate chambers of the system, where under the guidance of highly - automated equipment, selected chemicals are added. These agents cause the minute oil particles to flocculate, or coalesce. As the larger oil globules form, they are inflated with air, collected at the surface and drawn off.

The two - story reclamation unit is compact — it occupies plant space of 100 by 100 feet. Four years of planning and construction went into the prototype system, which the Crucible engineers believe is adaptable to many industrial applications.

9 Aquanauts Begin 12-Day Ocean Test

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Nine aquanauts begin today the Navy's most elaborate project yet in undersea living—12 days ina 57-x-12-foot steel cylinder on the bottom of the Pacific Ocean.

A possible hitch arose late Sunday when a helium leak was discovered around the hull of Sealab 3 where an umbilical line to the surface ties in.

Four of the aquanauts worked 20 minutes on preparations for the repair work before the pressure at 610 feet and the cold drove them backup. After "a few more preparations" early today, a Navy spokesman said the leak would be repaired and the project under way—even earlier than planned.

The leak was similar to a minor one in Sealab 2, in which three teams of 10 men spent 15-day periods 205 feet under the surface off La Jolla, Calif. In Sealab 1, four men lived 11 days at a depth of 193 feet off Bermuda in 1964.

In preparation for today's descent, the men of Sealab 3 arranged to spend 24 hours inside two compression chambers aboard the surface support ship, the USS Elk River. The pressure was increased gradually to equal that on the ocean floor.

Their box-like home for 12 days was lowered to the ocean bottom near offshore San Clemeente Island. The habitat was pressurized at 19 times normal —about 270 poundh per square inch—just enough to keep it from flooding. The men thus can swim in and out of the diving bells and the habitat without using hatches.

The men are the first of five teams who will spend two months in all living and working, in 47-degree water under such pressure. The project is aimed at testing equipment which will open submerged continental shelves to military exploration and use. It is the last of the three habitat-testing programs.

Return Of The Tax Dollar

The Federal Money Pot

By JOHN R. THOMAS
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — About one-third of every dollar Ohio spends on state-related functions comes from the federal government — and that percentage probably will increase in coming years.

Good deal, you say? Yes and no.

The amount of federal money received cost Ohio's taxpayers $1.23 cents for every dollar the federal government returned to the state.

Could Be Worse

Not a very good return. But it could be worse: New York taxpayers shell out $1.83 for every $1 returned to their state government, according to a report compiled last week by Ohio's Legislative Service Commission.

And it could be a lot better, too. Tiny — populationwise — Alaska got one federal dollar returned for every 12 cents taxpayers sent to Washington. Only two states — Kansas and New Hampshire — break even on that deal.

On the good side of the coin, federal grants do provide around 29 per cent of the state's principal sources of governmental revenue. Throw in the state matching funds required by the U.S. Government in many cases and the combination amounts to around 37 per cent of the total revenues.

Beats Sales Tax

Far and away the single largest source of state funds, the federal grants replaced the sales and use tax collections somewhere between 1952 and 1966 as the prime ingredient in the state's mushrooming expenditures.

In 1952, for example, sales and use tax collections amounted to 29 per cent of the total revenue used by the state. Federal grants at that time amounted to 14.5 per cent.

By 1966, federal grants were comprising 29 per cent, and the sales and use tax poured in 22 per cent of the total.

So, despite the high cost of getting the federal grants, Ohio has not been reluctant to participate to the fullest extent in programs which result in larger federal money involvement in state projects.

In fact, that objective is stated in an introduction to a Department of Finance catalog concerning federal grant-in-aid programs.

Problems Develop

But there have been problems. Procedures, auditing of funds, general scatter-gun approaches, lack of central planning for all federal moneys received, statutory-constitutional conflicts, built-in delays, fiscal liabilities are a few of the criticisms aimed at federal grants by state officials and legislators.

That the answers might be as equally complex as the problems is agreed to by almost all legislators and state officials when a discussion of federal funds begin.

Sees 'Bait' Idea

State Rep. Robert E. Netzley, R-Laura, who introduced the resolution which led to the Legislative Service Commission's report, believes federal funds sometimes are used as bait to get the states moving on certain projects, and then the funds are reduced or withdrawn.

He recalled not long ago that the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center at Wooster requested $60,000 to finish the last half of a project, the beginning of which had been underwritten largely by federal funds.

"We agreed that the project should be finished, and appropriated the money. But, that gives you an idea of how it really can cost the state when the federal government pulls out," Netzley said.

Could Work Against

He said matching fund procedures might be working against the very objectives which the federal government hoped would be achieved by greater federal fund involvement in state government — aiding institutions least able to afford the best.

Rep. Netzley recalis how Tipp City schools got several thousand dollars for a library. That school district is well off financially, and was able to come up with matching funds with no strain. A poorer school district could have used a new library also, but probably never will have one since it doesn't have enough money for matching funds to qualify for federal aid.

Block grants, he said, might solve some of the problems, as the state could exercise what he considers better judgment on regional difficulties.

Change Sought

State Sen. Ralph S. Regula, R-Navarre, a long-time promoter of block grants, has introduced a resolution in the Senate urging Congress to consider changing the grant-in-aid procedures to a more direct payment of funds for categorical programs.

President Nixon and his administration have stated they like the idea of categorical block grants, which would give the states more control over the expenditure of federal funds. It also would allow the states to set their own priorities — something now largely missing in the federal grant program.

Suggestions Made

Other suggestions coming out of the legislature last week to the problems created by federal fund involvement in state programs included:

PLACING the state on an annual budget to coincide with the federal fiscal schedule. It would result, some say, in a better check on the flow of federal funds if Ohio's biennium system were replaced with an annual budget. A bill already has been introduced calling for an annual budget.

CREATING a state agency charged with keeping tabs on all federal programs.

GIVING the legislature more of a say in what federally funded programs the state should participate in.

SETTING up a field office in Washington to keep abreast of the latest federal programs.

Train 'Full Crew'

Some legislators think the railroad companies will launch a stronger-than-ever attack on the state's so-called full crew law sometime during the 108th Ohio General Assembly.

Largely unsuccessful in the past in even getting anti-full crew bills on the floor, the railroads have set up a hospitality room in a downtown hotel where legislators can stop in to rest, drink, eat and talk.

Is There a Reason?

Legislators noted that it's been six years since the railroads have maintained the hospitality suite, and there must be a reason for it. Largely because of labor strength, the anti-full crew law bill has died in Rules Committee during the past few years after receiving favorable committee hearings.

Could it be the railroads set the stage for what they hope will be a successful management-legislator relationship last week when they agreed not to oppose a bill that's designed to crack down on firms whose trains block crossings?

The only thing that was changed in committee was a prohibition against a moving train blocking a road or street for more than 7 minutes, and that wasn't so much a concession on the part of the committee as it was a constitutional problem.

Length Unlimited

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that attempts to limit the length of a train are unconstitutional since they interfere with interstate and commerce. To put a 7-minute time limit on moving trains would, in effect, the committee and the railroads agreed, place a limit on how long the trains could be. Otherwise, the bill makes it tougher for the railroads to find an excuse when their stopped trains block crossings longer than 5 minutes.

Another provision calls for a stiff fine to be levied against the railroad companies — as opposed to the maximum $20 fine which now can be imposed on the conductor.

ANN LANDERS

Money Brings Sorrow

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I started out together, poor but ambitious. After 20 years of hard work we're worth about a quarter of a million dollars.

But Sam still works as if he had to earn next month's rent. He keeps expanding and getting into more deals when he should be taking life easy and enjoying what we have built.

I always worked in the business with Sam and raised a family, too. It was hard when the children were small but I didn't resent it because he needed me. Now I do resent it because we shouldn't have to work this hard. We've already made it. Sam and I haven't taken a vacation in 10 years. Our success has made us slaves to the dollar.

My in-laws keep begging Sam to play some golf or buy a boat but he insists he enjoys his work the way some people enjoy a hobby.

I envy the modest families who have one car, a small house and have to save all year to take a trip, tourist class. We're trapped by money and success. I feel so frustrated I want to cry. Any recommendations? — RICK BUT POOR.

Dear Rich But Poor: Welcome to The Club. The only line missing from your letter is — "The kids never saw their father when they were growing up."

Your husband is a compulsive worker and there's no known cure for it. But this can be both good and bad. It's good that Sam enjoys his work so thoroughly that he can't pull himself away from it. But it's bad because he is cheating himself and you, too.

Please show him the letter which appears below. It might help open his eyes.

Too Late

Dear Ann: I never thought I'd write to you but I find now I must. If I can prevent just one person from making the mistake I made it will be well worth the trouble it took to put this letter together. I'm no a very good writer.

My wife and I were married 45 years. We both worked hard and made more money than we could ever spend. She begged me to take her on a trip to Europe and other parts of the world we had only read about, but I was always "too busy." We missed weddings and Bar Mitzvahs and other happy family occasions because I couldn't leave the business.

When I reached by 62nd birthday, my wife pleaded with me to retire at least part time. But I wasn't sure anyone else could run the company and I stayed on. She tried again two years ago, but I couldn't see it.

Well, eight weeks ago I buried my wonderful wife and now I suddenly have plenty of time on my hands. The business doesn't seem important at all. When I'm not there things go along just fine. Even better.

I realize too late that I made a terrible mistake. Now the money will be enjoyed by our children when it was really my beloved wife who should have had the pleasure from it. — REGRETS.

Acting Head Vows To Keep San Francisco College Open

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco State College, hit by homemade bombs twice in four days, begins the spring semester today with its acting president vowing to keep the campus open.

Two explosions rocked the administration building early Sunday, blowing out 14 plate glass windows, touching off two fires and injuring a campus security officer.

The officer, Derek Pitts, was passing within a few yards of the explosions in a patrol car. He suffered a mild concussion but put out the fires.

No arrests were made. Witnesses said they saw two youths running from the area.

Dr. S.I. Hayakawa, named acting president two weeks after minority sudens and sympahizers began a strike Nov. 6, called the explosions "just another of the neo-Fascist actions" by dissidents trying to close the campus.

Another bomb knocked out two windows in a student lounge Thursday night.

Hayakawa vowed to keep the campus open all spring, with police force if necessary. He conceded that many of the 18,000 students enrolled for the fall semester had been trying to transfer to other schools. Picketing, demonstrations and sometimes violence have accompanied the three-month-old strike.

The black studies department, which had been tentatively set to begin operations this semester, now won't begin until next fall because of what Hayakawa called "sabotage" by Nathan Hare and other Negro faculty members.

Chairman Makes New Appeal In Dimes Camapign

An appeal for additional support of the East Liverpool area March of Dimes campaign was issued today by Richard Brian, drive chairman, who pointed out the $5,500 collected to date is $1,000 short of the goal.

He said the mail appeal should bring further contributions.

Brian emphasized the need for the funds throughout the nation to help in the care of those with birth defects and in research to uncover the causes of such defects.

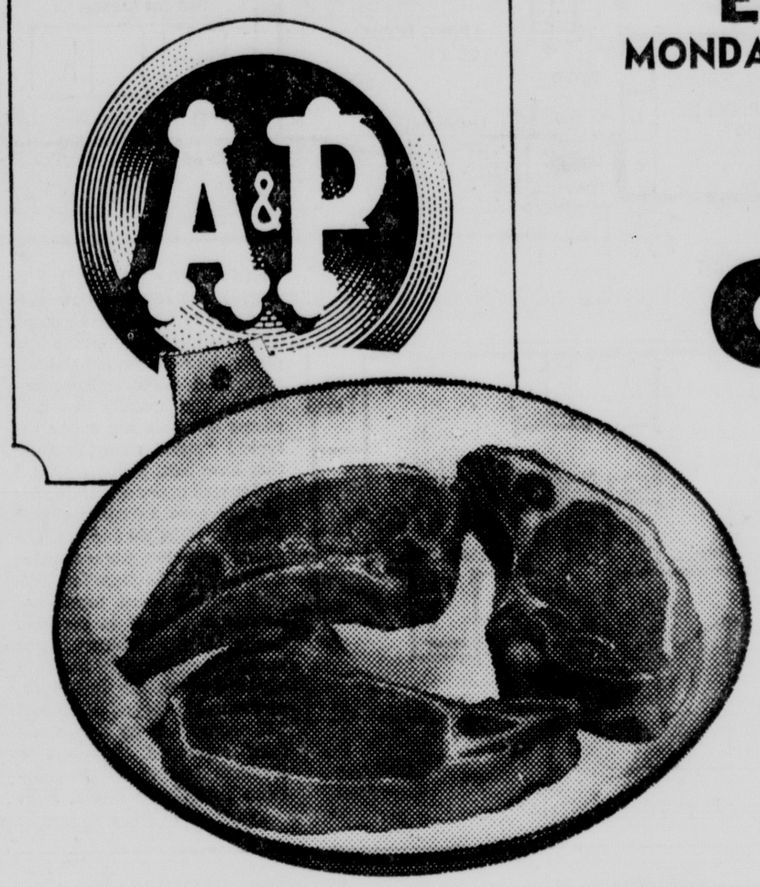

"In our society today," he added, "a quarter of a million newborn babies are denied their rightful heritage of sound health."

The March of Dimes supports more than 100 birth defects centers across the nation to help these infants. Throughout this network are outstanding medical teams treating and rehabilitating young victims of birth defects. Many other March of Dimes-supported scientists are carrying on research which, hopefully, one day will prevent these tragedies, Brian said.

"So don't let the hour grow any later," Brian said. "Return your contributions to the March of Dimes in the next mail."

ANN LANDERS

Money Brings Sorrow

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I started out together, poor but ambitious. After 20 years of hard work we're worth about a quarter of a million dollars.

But Sam still works as if he had to earn next month's rent. He keeps expanding and getting into more deals when he should be taking life easy and enjoying what we have built.

I always worked in the business with Sam and raised a family, too. It was hard when the children were small but I didn't resent it because he needed me. Now I do resent it because we shouldn't have to work this hard. We've already made it. Sam and I haven't taken a vacation in 10 years. Our success has made us slaves to the dollar.

My in-laws keep begging Sam to play some golf or buy a boat but he insists he enjoys his work the way some people enjoy a hobby.

I envy the modest families who have one car, a small house and have to save all vear to take a trip, tourist class. We're trapped by money and success. I feel so frustrated I want to cry. Any recommendations? — RICK BUT POOR.

Dear Rich But Poor: Welcome to The Club. The only line missing from your letter is — "The kids never saw their father when they were growing up."

Your husband is a compulsive worker and there's no known cure for it. But this can be both good and bad. It's good that Sam enjoys his work so thoroughly that he can't pull himself away from it. But it's bad because he is cheating himself and you, too.

Please show him the letter which appears below. It might help open his eyes.

Too Late

Dear Ann: I never thought I'd write to you but I find now I must. If I can prevent just one person from making the mistake I made it will be well worth the trouble it took to put this letter together. I'm no a very good writer.

My wife and I were married 45 years. We both worked hard and made more money than we could ever spend. She begged me to take her on a trip to Europe and other parts of the world we had only read about, but I was always "too busy." We missed weddings and Bar Mitzvahs and other happy family occasions because I couldn't leave the business.

When I reached by 62nd birthday, my wife pleaded with me to retire at least part time. But I wasn't sure anyone else could run the company and I stayed on. She tried again two years ago, but I couldn't see it.

Well, eight weeks ago I buried my wonderful wife and now I suddenly have plenty of time on my hands. The business doesn't seem important at all. When I'm not there things go along just fine. Even better.

I realize too late that I made a terrible mistake. Now the money will be enjoyed by our children when it was really my beloved wife who should have had the pleasure from it. — REGRETS.

Easy Does It!

More Tips Offered On Painting

When it comes to painting a room — easy does it. Especially when you know the tricks of the trade. Here are a few suggestions to help you get your painting done quicker and better than ever.

First, always buy quality paints. Their improved hiding power, ease of application and greater durability make them a bargain in the long run. Latex paints are a boon to the do-it-yourselfer. On the plus side, they're practically odorless and all but dripless. Brushes and inadvertent spatters clean up with just a soap and water treatment. In addition, latex paints are fast drying, come in a wide range of colors in semi-gloss and flat sheens.

THE RIGHT equipment goes a long way in making any painting job a breeze. Here are some of the essentials: a long-handled roller for painting ceilings; a three-inch brush for doing trim; shirt boards or a metal shield for doing the fine line between walls and ceilings.

If you use the largest roller you can manage, your room can be painted in no time. And don't forget dropcloths of tarpaulin or heavy plastic to protect your furniture and floors while you're painting.

The next step in your paint project is removal of hardware from doors and cabinets. Detach covers from electrical outlets and switches if you don't intend to paint them, too.

Now check the walls. If they're reasonably clean, just dust them off. But if dust, grease or soap film have accumulated — as in a bathroom or kitchen—the walls should be washed down with a sudsy solution of detergent and warm water. Rinse the walls with clear water and let them dry.

For cracks and holes, use spackling compound as a filler. Just apply the spackling material with a knife and let it dry. Then, sand it down smooth with the surface.

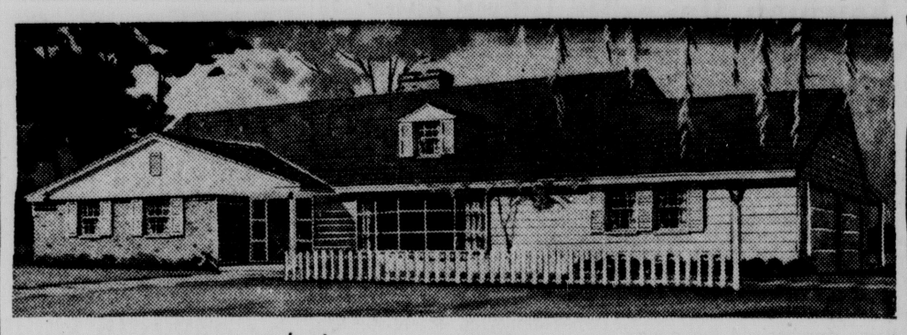

—:—

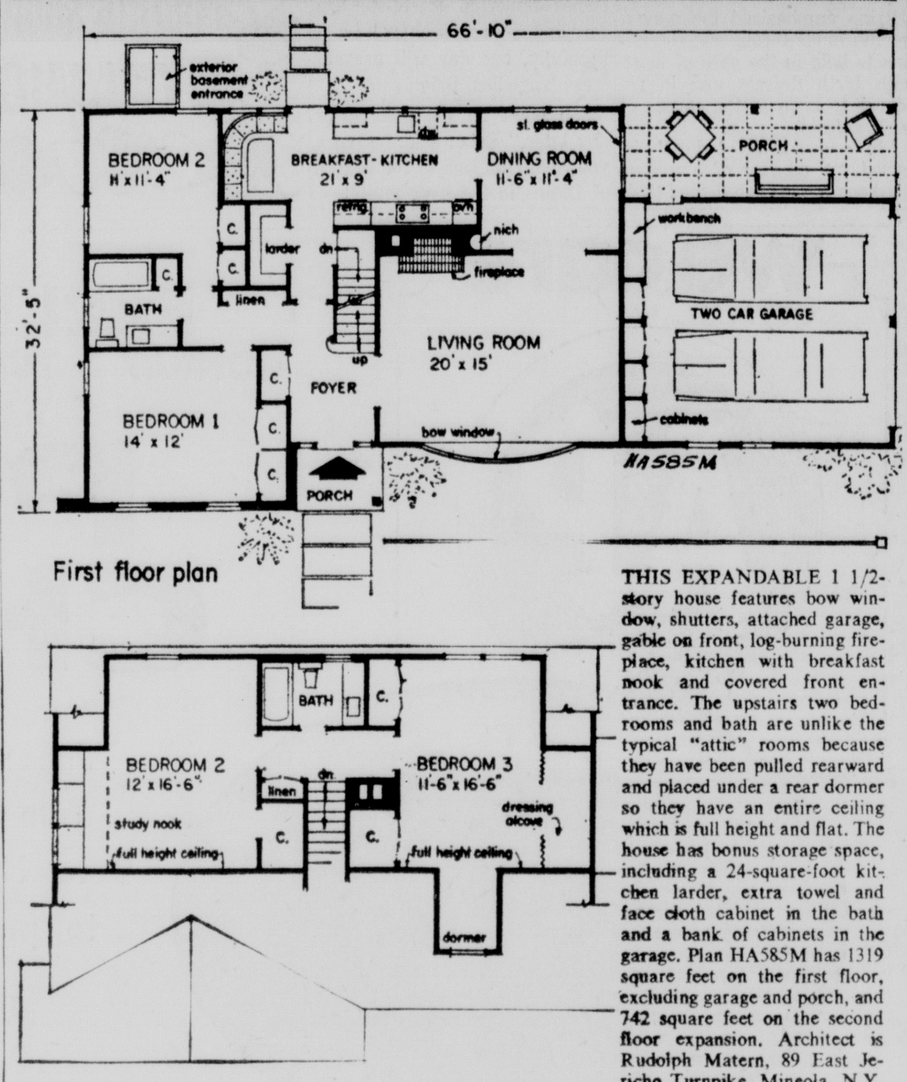

FOR BEST results, paint your room in this order: ceiling first, walls second, trim last.

Painting ceilings is a snap if you use a long-handled roller. Or, if you prefer, place a wide, 1½-inch thick plank on the treads of two solidly - footed open step ladders. This will allow you to paint without the bother of having to run up and down ladders.

For the fine "edge" between the ceiling and walls, follow the pros with this "fool - the - eye" trick. Just draw the line freehand with a small brush. You may find this a quicker, more satisfying way of getting the illusion of an even edge.

When using a roller, line the tray with aluminum foil to spare yourself a cleanup later on. Foil also makes a good protector for your brushes when they are clean, dry, and ready to be stored again.

THIS EXPANDABLE 1 1/2-story house features bow window, shutters, attached garage, gable on front, log-burning fireplace, kitchen with breakfast nook and covered front entrance. The upstairs two bedrooms and bath are unlike the typical "attic" rooms because they have been pulled rearward and placed under a rear dormer so they have an entire ceiling which is full height and flat. The house has bonus storage space, including a 24-square-foot kitchen larder, extra towel and face cloth cabinet in the bath and a bank of cabinets in the garage. Plan HA585M has 1319 square feet on the first floor, excluding garage and porch, and 742 square feet on the second floor expansion. Closet Should Be Put On A 'Business Basis'

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Consider putting your closets on a "business basis" before you call in a carpenter to do extensive remodeling so that you will have more closet room, suggests Ivor J. Allsop of Bellingham, Wash., an inventor of closet accessories.

You've got to discard something when you put something new in a closet, he says. That's how many big stores and catalog companies operate stock. Othewise America's stores would be nothing but clutter, he explains.

A good place to start this plan is in a man's closet, where order can be established quickly, he suggests.

Architects will eventually plan closets better — they seem to be getting the pitch. But, meanwhile, make the best of what you can work with by departmentalizing everything and keeping only useful wearables, he advises.

If the man's closet is a large open one with a clothes rod across the top, you may make it more useful by putting a series of small shelves down one side of it.

Sweaters, brief bag and even dress shirts may be put on the shelves. The floor level under such an arrangement may be used for luggage. Put coats and suit jackets on the rod. Under jackets, another arrangement should be made for pants hangers (Pants should hang separate from jackets, he says.) Under coats, you'll have room for shoe racks.

A man's closet need not be messy whether he has two or 22 suits if everything is placed, stacked neatly and discarded promptly.

Four years ago, Allsop introduced a new type of men's boot holder, and he has parlayed the original idea into a number of different styles from the single "shoe-in." There are rotating units that hold up to four pairs of shoes, or eight pairs when stacked.

The idea grew out of necessity, he explained at a recent homes show where his shoe-valet was displayed in a room setting.

"I was in the ski business and we rented ski boots. At quitting time everyone rushed in with wet boots and we had to figure out some way to tree them in a hurry, plus a way to aerate them, so I originated a unit that would adjust automatically to the length of the boot in one motion and permit shoes to return to size after they were dry."

Individual units may be mounted on closet doors; rotating units have storage space for slippers and shoe - shining equipment.

Now inventor Allsop is thinking "pants hangers."

"There must be a better way to hang pants than over wire hangers. I think they sould hang from the cuffs, but they need good support," he says.

Sandblasting Advised To Aid Paint Problem

AP Newsfeatures

Question: A couple of years ago we bought an old house that has walls made of concrete block.

The concrete apparently was painted with some kind of orange paint and is now flaking and peeling all over the place. I was thinking about repainting it, but realize that new paint won't hold very long over that kind of surface.

Am I right? And what can be done to get off the old paint? I am willing to have the job done professionally as long as I get a good result. What do you suggest?

—:—

ANSWER: A masonry conditioner works when the old paint is chalking, but in this case more severe measures appear to be in order. While you might try power wire brushing, you won't get as good a result as if you have the masonry surface sandblasted.

And you sure are right about the uselessness of painting over such a surface. It would only by a few months before the flaking and peeling would start all over again.

—:—

QUESTION: Is it necessary to use woof filler on an oak floor before refinishing it? I intend to use lacquer as the final finish.

ANSWER: In the first place, there is a trend towards leaving oak and other open - pored woods in their natural state rather than attempting to close the pores with a filler. Of course, the finish will have a woodsy look instead of a glass-smooth one, but many consider this preferable. Secondly — and more important — filler should not be used under lacquer, which may lift it from the pores.

—:—

QUESTION: I recently mixed some shellac with turpentine and then realized I should have used denatured alcohol. Can I use it that way?

—:—

ANSWER: No. Denatured alcohol is the only recommended thinner for shellac.

'Alden Day' Scheduled May 23 At Ohio U.

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University will celebrate "Vernon and Marion Alden Day" May 23 in honor of the school's president and first lady since 1962.

Dr. Alden will resign in June to become chairman of the board and chairman of the executive committee of the Boston Co. and Boston Safe Deposit and Turst Co.

Stuccoing Calls For Right Time Between Coats

AP Newsfeatures

Question: I have some stuccoing to do in the spring. I think I have a pretty good idea of how to apply the three different coats, but the one thing I am not sure of is the length of time between coats.

Answer: You should wait three or four days between the first or scratch coat and the second or brown coat. Wait even loger — at least a week — between the brown coat and the finish coat.

—:—

Answer: Ask your paint dealer or household supply store for a roof - painting brush to be used in applying tar. There is more than one type of roof-painting brush, one of which costs less than the others and is especially suitable for spreading tar.

—:—

QUESTION: Copper gutters on our house have caused stains on the masonry wall of our house. How can these stains be removed?

Answer: Mix equal parts of household ammonia and sal ammoniac. Saturate the bristles of a stiff brush with the solution and rub the stained areas. Wait about 10 minutes, then rinse off the surface with cold, clear water. If possible, apply the water with a hose so that some pressure is exerted, thus insuring removal of all traces of the solution.

—:—

QUESTION: I want to get a stipple effect on the walls of a room I plan to paint in the near future. I know that the stipple can be produced by hitting the wall lightly with the side of the brush, but I'd like to use a roller if possible. How can I make the paint seem stippled?

Answer: Use a stippling roller. Many, but not all, paint stores sell them. If it is your intention to cover wall imperfections, use both a stippling roller and texture paint.

Scrubbing Urged For Cleaning Of Fireplace Brick

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Few things detract from a living room quite as much as smudged and sooty bricks along the top edge of the fireplace opening.

They are so easy to clean that there is little excuse for leaving them in such a condition, but many a home owner has tried various formulas recommended by his friends or neighbors which resulted in a worse condition than he had before he commenced operations.

To begin with, brick is a very porous material. This applies to the ordinary run of brick which is known as common brick much more than it applies to the hard - burned yellow or tapestry brick, and more fireplaces these days are built with a facing of common brick. Therefore, caution must be exercised in the treatment of them.

Acids and detergents will clean if they are properly applied and a thorough job is done by persons who know what they are doing, but in many cases the use of them results only in diluting the soot and tar deposit on the front of the fireplace and allowing it to soak into the brick deeply and spread to the surrounding surface as well. It is not exaggerating to say that fully half of the time this is what happens.

If you have a stained and sooted fireplace, the safe method is to use a coarse wire brush and scrub the surface while it is dry. This takes time, but it is a job that will put a new face on the brick and it is well worthwhile. It will not spread the soot or tar deposits and there is no chance of diluting them and allowing them to soak deeply into the porous material on which you are working.

If the bricks you scrub look too new in comparison to the others which were not sooted, a very light going over for the whole surface will soon remedy that.

Hardware Men Wait Ohio Show

COLUMBUS — The 1969 Mid America Hardware - Housewares, Lawn and Garden Show —"The Total Show" — largest of its type in the Midwest, will be held here at the new Lausche Building on the State Fairgrounds Feb. 23, 24 and 25.

John B. Conklin, managing director of the Ohio Hardware Association which sponsores the annual event, expects the show will surpass all previous records, attracting more than 10,000 retailers, wholesalers and buyers.

More than 350 leading U. S. manufacturers and suppliers will be exhibiting their product lines.

Paul Fleeger of Toledo, president of OHA, will preside at convention sessions.

The stone fruits — peach, plum and cherry trees — are usually propagated by bud grafting.

Remedy Offered If Garage Door Causes Problem

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Damages to the house exterior and to things that have been exposed to the weather through the winter months are easily spotted.

One of the most annoying things encountered is the garage door which has sagged and, therefore, refuses to close tightly.

Usually, if it can be slammed shut it becomes harder to open, and before many months have elapsed the door is badly shaken up and ready for replacement. The cost of a new garage door today is not to be taken lightly, but it can be repaired if measures are taken as soon as the sag is first noticed.

For slightly more than $1, you can buy corner braces or hangers and repair the door. These gadgets are made up of an assembly of two threaded rods having flat plates at their end, and at the center a turnbuckle connects the threaded ends.

The flat plates are screwed into the door at the top near the hinge and the lower plate as close to the lower edge of the door as is possible. When the turnbuckle is turned up, it lifts the lower outside sagging edge of the door and restores it to proper position. Care must be taken to put the tension on gradually so that too much strain will not be applied to the door at one time.

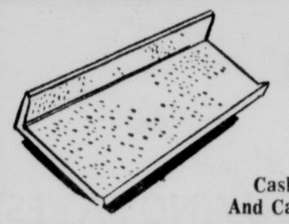

These rods are far more effective than any wood battens, such as we frequently see nailed across a door to take up a sag.

Easy Does It!

More Tips Offered On Painting

When it comes to painting a room — easy does it. Especially when you know the tricks of the trade. Here are a few suggestions to help you get your painting done quicker and better than ever.

First, always buy quality paints. Their improved hiding power, ease of application and greater durability make them a bargain in the long run. Latex paints are a boon to the do-it-yourselfer. On the plus side, they're practically odorless and all but dripless. Brushes and inadvertent spatters clean up with just a soap and water treatment. In addition, latex paints are fast drying, come in a wide range of colors in semi-gloss and flat sheens.

THE RIGHT equipment goes a long way in making any painting job a breeze. Here are some of the essentials: a long-handled roller for painting ceilings; a three-inch brush for doing trim; shirt boards or a metal shield for doing the fine line between walls and ceilings.

If you use the largest roller you can manage, your room can be painted in no time. And don't forget dropcloths of tarpaulin or heavy plastic to protect your furniture and floors while you're painting.

The next step in your paint project is removal of hardware from doors and cabinets. Detach covers from electrical outlets and switches if you don't intend to paint them, too.

Now check the walls. If they're reasonably clean, just dust them off. But if dust, grease or soap film have accumulated — as in a bathroom or kitchen—the walls should be washed down with a sudsy solution of detergent and warm water. Rinse the walls with clear water and let them dry.

For cracks and holes, use spackling compound as a filler. Just apply the spackling material with a knife and let it dry. Then, sand it down smooth with the surface.

—:—

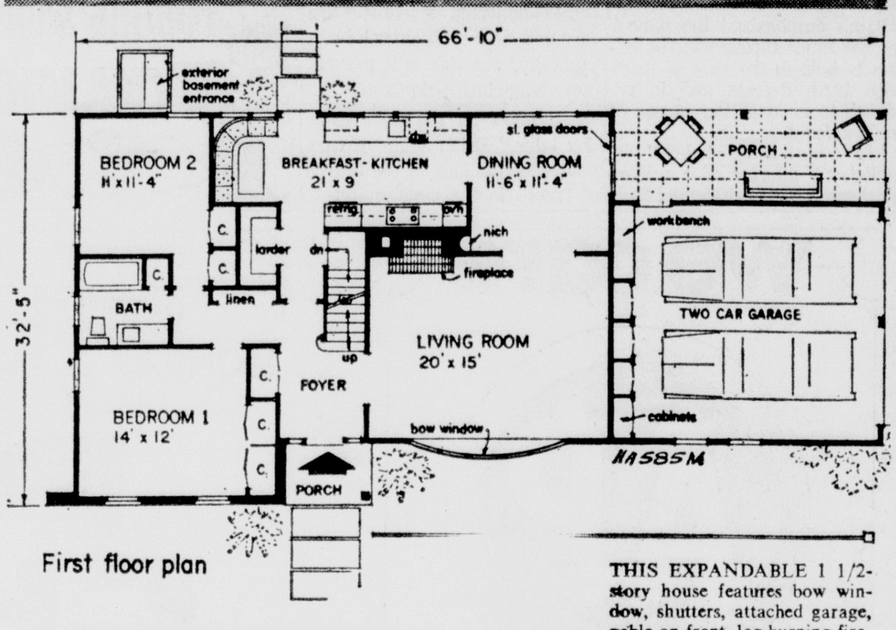

FOR BEST results, paint your room in this order: ceiling first, walls second, trim last.

Painting ceilings is a snap if you use a long-handled roller. Or, if you prefer, place a wide, 1½-inch thick plank on the treads of two solidly - footed open step ladders. This will allow you to paint without the bother of having to run up and down ladders.

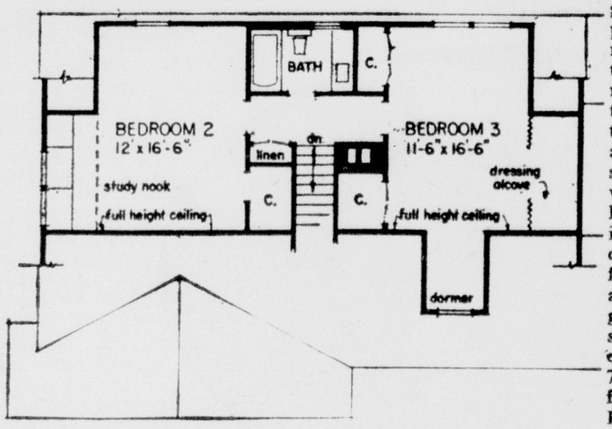

For the fine "edge" between the ceiling and walls, follow the pros with this "fool - the - eye" trick. Just draw the line freehand with a small brush. You may find this a quicker, more satisfying way of getting the illusion of an even edge.

When using a roller, line the tray with aluminum foil to spare yourself a cleanup later on. Foil also makes a good protector for your brushes when they are clean, dry, and ready to be stored again.

THIS EXPANDABLE 1 1/2-story house features bow window, shutters, attached garage, gable on front, log-burning fireplace, kitchen with breakfast nook and covered front entrance. The upstairs two bedrooms and bath are unlike the typical "attic" rooms because they have been pulled rearward and placed under a rear dormer so they have an entire ceiling which is full height and flat. The house has bonus storage space, including a 24-square-foot kitchen larder, extra towel and face cloth cabinet in the bath and a bank of cabinets in the garage. Plan HA585M has 1319 square feet on the first floor, excluding garage and porch, and 742 square feet on the second floor expansion. Architect is Rudolph Matern, 89 East Jericho Turnpike, Mineola, N.Y. 11501.

Closet Should Be Put On A 'Business Basis'

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Consider putting your closets on a "business basis" before you call in a carpenter to do extensive remodeling so that you will have more closet room, suggests Ivor J. Allsop of Bellingham, Wash., an inventor of closet accessories.

You've got to discard something when you put something new in a closet, he says. That's how many big stores and catalog companies operate stock. Othewise America's stores would be nothing but clutter, he explains.

A good place to start this plan is in a man's closet, where order can be established quickly, he suggests.

Architects will eventually plan closets better — they seem to be getting the pitch. But, meanwhile, make the best of what you can work with by departmentalizing everything and keeping only useful wearables, he advises.

If the man's closet is a large open one with a clothes rod across the top, you may make it more useful by putting a series of small shelves down one side of it.

Sweaters, brief bag and even dress shirts may be put on the shelves. The floor level under such an arrangement may be used for luggage. Put coats and suit jackets on the rod. Under jackets, another arrangement should be made for pants hangers (Pants should hang separate from jackets, he says.) Under coats, you'll have room for shoe racks.

A man's closet need not be messy whether he has two or 22 suits if everything is placed, stacked neatly and discarded promptly.

Four years ago, Allsop introduced a new type of men's boot holder, and he has parlayed the original idea into a number of different styles from the single "shoe-in." There are rotating units that hold up to four pairs of shoes, or eight pairs when stacked.

The idea grew out of necessity, he explained at a recent homes show where his shoe-valet was displayed in a room setting.

"I was in the ski business and we rented ski boots. At quitting time everyone rushed in with wet boots and we had to figure out some way to tree them in a hurry, plus a way to aerate them, so I originated a unit that would adjust automatically to the length of the boot in one motion and permit shoes to return to size after they were dry."

Individual units may be mounted on closet doors; rotating units have storage space for slippers and shoe - shining equipment.

Now inventor Allsop is thinking "pants hangers."

"There must be a better way to hang pants than over wire hangers. I think they sould hang from the cuffs, but they need good support," he says.

Sandblasting Advised To Aid Paint Problem

AP Newsfeatures

Question: A couple of years ago we bought an old house that has walls made of concrete block.

The concrete apparently was painted with some kind of orange paint and is now flaking and peeling all over the place. I was thinking about repainting it, but realize that new paint won't hold very long over that kind of surface.

Am I right? And what can be done to get off the old paint? I am willing to have the job done professionally as long as I get a good result. What do you suggest?

—:—

ANSWER: A masonry conditioner works when the old paint is chalking, but in this case more severe measures appear to be in order. While you might try power wire brushing, you won't get as good a result as if you have the masonry surface sandblasted.

And you sure are right about the uselessness of painting over such a surface. It would only by a few months before the flaking and peeling would start all over again.

—:—

QUESTION: Is it necessary to use woof filler on an oak floor before refinishing it? I intend to use lacquer as the final finish.

ANSWER: In the first place, there is a trend towards leaving oak and other open - pored woods in their natural state rather than attempting to close the pores with a filler. Of course, the finish will have a woodsy look instead of a glass-smooth one, but many consider this preferable. Secondly — and more important — filler should not be used under lacquer, which may lift it from the pores.

—:—

QUESTION: I recently mixed some shellac with turpentine and then realized I should have used denatured alcohol. Can I use it that way?

—:—

ANSWER: No. Denatured alcohol is the only recommended thinner for shellac.

'Alden Day' Scheduled May 23 At Ohio U.

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University will celebrate "Vernon and Marion Alden Day" May 23 in honor of the school's president and first lady since 1962.

Dr. Alden will resign in June to become chairman of the board and chairman of the executive committee of the Boston Co. and Boston Safe Deposit and Turst Co.

Stuccoing Calls For Right Time Between Coats

AP Newsfeatures

Question: I have some stuccoing to do in the spring. I think I have a pretty good idea of how to apply the three different coats, but the one thing I am not sure of is the length of time between coats.

Answer: You should wait three or four days between the first or scratch coat and the second or brown coat. Wait even loger — at least a week — between the brown coat and the finish coat.

—:—

Answer: Ask your paint dealer or household supply store for a roof - painting brush to be used in applying tar. There is more than one type of roof-painting brush, one of which costs less than the others and is especially suitable for spreading tar.

—:—

QUESTION: Copper gutters on our house have caused stains on the masonry wall of our house. How can these stains be removed?

Answer: Mix equal parts of household ammonia and sal ammoniac. Saturate the bristles of a stiff brush with the solution and rub the stained areas. Wait about 10 minutes, then rinse off the surface with cold, clear water. If possible, apply the water with a hose so that some pressure is exerted, thus insuring removal of all traces of the solution.

—:—

QUESTION: I want to get a stipple effect on the walls of a room I plan to paint in the near future. I know that the stipple can be produced by hitting the wall lightly with the side of the brush, but I'd like to use a roller if possible. How can I make the paint seem stippled?

Answer: Use a stippling roller. Many, but not all, paint stores sell them. If it is your intention to cover wall imperfections, use both a stippling roller and texture paint.

Scrubbing Urged For Cleaning Of Fireplace Brick

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Few things detract from a living room quite as much as smudged and sooty bricks along the top edge of the fireplace opening.

They are so easy to clean that there is little excuse for leaving them in such a condition, but many a home owner has tried various formulas recommended by his friends or neighbors which resulted in a worse condition than he had before he commenced operations.

To begin with, brick is a very porous material. This applies to the ordinary run of brick which is known as common brick much more than it applies to the hard - burned yellow or tapestry brick, and more fireplaces these days are built with a facing of common brick. Therefore, caution must be exercised in the treatment of them.

Acids and detergents will clean if they are properly applied and a thorough job is done by persons who know what they are doing, but in many cases the use of them results only in diluting the soot and tar deposit on the front of the fireplace and allowing it to soak into the brick deeply and spread to the surrounding surface as well. It is not exaggerating to say that fully half of the time this is what happens.

If you have a stained and sooted fireplace, the safe method is to use a coarse wire brush and scrub the surface while it is dry. This takes time, but it is a job that will put a new face on the brick and it is well worthwhile. It will not spread the soot or tar deposits and there is no chance of diluting them and allowing them to soak deeply into the porous material on which you are working.

If the bricks you scrub look too new in comparison to the others which were not sooted, a very light going over for the whole surface will soon remedy that.

Hardware Men Wait Ohio Show

COLUMBUS — The 1969 Mid America Hardware - Housewares, Lawn and Garden Show —"The Total Show" — largest of its type in the Midwest, will be held here at the new Lausche Building on the State Fairgrounds Feb. 23, 24 and 25.

John B. Conklin, managing director of the Ohio Hardware Association which sponsores the annual event, expects the show will surpass all previous records, attracting more than 10,000 retailers, wholesalers and buyers.

More than 350 leading U. S. manufacturers and suppliers will be exhibiting their product lines.

Paul Fleeger of Toledo, president of OHA, will preside at convention sessions.

The stone fruits — peach, plum and cherry trees — are usually propagated by bud grafting.

Remedy Offered If Garage Door Causes Problem

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Damages to the house exterior and to things that have been exposed to the weather through the winter months are easily spotted.

One of the most annoying things encountered is the garage door which has sagged and, therefore, refuses to close tightly.

Usually, if it can be slammed shut it becomes harder to open, and before many months have elapsed the door is badly shaken up and ready for replacement. The cost of a new garage door today is not to be taken lightly, but it can be repaired if measures are taken as soon as the sag is first noticed.

For slightly more than $1, you can buy corner braces or hangers and repair the door. These gadgets are made up of an assembly of two threaded rods having flat plates at their end, and at the center a turnbuckle connects the threaded ends.

The flat plates are screwed into the door at the top near the hinge and the lower plate as close to the lower edge of the door as is possible. When the turnbuckle is turned up, it lifts the lower outside sagging edge of the door and restores it to proper position. Care must be taken to put the tension on gradually so that too much strain will not be applied to the door at one time.

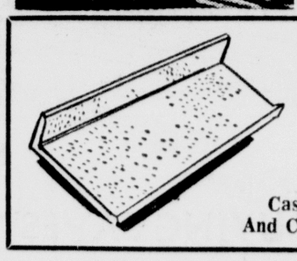

These rods are far more effective than any wood battens, such as we frequently see nailed across a door to take up a sag.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Tips On Changing Wax

DEAR HELOISE: As a wax manufacturer, may I suggest how housewives can do a bit of testing on their own floors when changing from one brand of wax to the next?

Heloise

Any wax or finish should dry to a smooth, even surface with no ridges or markings.

As liquid waxes, the liquid should not go beyond the path of the applicator and should not dry in spots nor shrink while drying.

After allowing one hour for a wax to dry, the wax or finish should be "tack-free" to gloss paper laid upon the floor surface and should pull off with no sticking.

If water has no effect on the dry film of wax . . . it should be rated excellent.

Repeated applications of some types of wax on the floor might result in "BUILD-UP." This is called aging. If this happens, the wax must be entirely removed so as to prevent color change.

Hope this helps you homemakers.

Talks On Merger Are Broken Off

NEW YORK (AP) — The directors of the U.S. Smelting, Refining and Mining Co. have broken off merger talks with the Clevite Corp.

Clevite issued a statement in Cleveland Sunday that Smelting had "reversed its position and unilaterally withdrawn from the Dec. 12 merger agreement with Clevite."

Smelting later acknowledged the end of discussions and said it would "make a tender offer for any and all of the Clevite common and preference stock."

In a statement issued in New York, Smelting said it would offer a 7½ per cent subordinated debenture in the principal amount of $90 plus one warrant to buy one share of Smelting common stock at $66 for each share of Clevite common or preference.

The Dec. 12 merger agreement was reached after a bitter year-long tussle.

Withdrawal Of Guards Eyed At Wisconsin U.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles says he hopes he can withdraw today the 1,900 National Guardsmen who patrolled last week's student disorders at the University of Wisconsin. The campus was quiet over the weekend.

The governor expressed his hope for an early withdrawal during a Sunday visit to an armory where some of the troops were stationed after students began a classroom boycott a week ago in support of Negro demands.

"We've got to maintain law and order, or our democracy will be gone," the Republican governor said.

An estimated 27 persons were taken into custody last week during brief clashes with police and guardsmen. There were few injuries, and demonstration leaders continually urged protesters to avoid conflicts with the officers.

Knowles had begun calling National Guardsmen to the 33,000-student campus Wednesday. Negro leaders' appeals for support produced up to 5,000 participants for marches to the state Capitol eight blocks from the campus, and 10,000 for a Thursday night march.

But the week's classroom boycott did not seriously diminish class attendance, the university said, and a demonstration scheduled Saturday at a track meet did not materialize.

The eight Negro members of Wisconsin's champion Big Ten Conference indoor track team, however, boycotted the meet. The track team coach said there would be no reprisals and the absentees announced they were returning to the team.

The state Senate, at Knowles' suggestion, approved a bill to withhold financial aid from college students convicted of disrupting campuses, and sent the measure to the state Assembly.

The Wisconsin division of the American Civil Liberties Union, whose state executive director said the senators acted "in an atmosphere of hysteria," urged the Assembly not to vote on the bill without holding a public hearing.

The demonstrations and picketing began with Negroes demanding an autonomous department of Negro affairs, special curriculum and full student control over hiring of instructors for Negro courses.

2,000 Auto Tires Recalled By Goodyear

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Two thousand automobile tires are being recalled by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. because of an incorrect load rating marking.

Goodyear said an upside-down "6" in a tire mold resulted in an incorrect load rating of 1,920 pounds being stamped on one side of the 8.25 X 14"All Weather IV" tires. The correct load rating of 1,602 pounds is stamped on the other side, it added.

Great Britain recognized the independence of the United States by the Treaty of Paris, signed in 1783 and ratified by the U.S. Congress Jan. 14, 1784.

Withdrawal Of Guards Eyed At Wisconsin U.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles says he hopes he can withdraw today the 1,900 National Guardsmen who patrolled last week's student disorders at the University of Wisconsin. The campus was quiet over the weekend.

The governor expressed his hope for an early withdrawal during a Sunday visit to an armory where some of the troops were stationed after students began a classroom boycott a week ago in support of Negro demands.

"We've got to maintain law and order, or our democracy will be gone," the Republican governor said.

An estimated 27 persons were taken into custody last week during brief clashes with police and guardsmen. There were few injuries, and demonstration leaders continually urged protesters to avoid conflicts with the officers.

Knowles had begun calling National Guardsmen to the 33,000-student campus Wednesday. Negro leaders' appeals for support produced up to 5,000 participants for marches to the state Capitol eight blocks from the campus, and 10,000 for a Thursday night march.

But the week's classroom boycott did not seriously diminish class attendance, the university said, and a demonstration scheduled Saturday at a track meet did not materialize.

The eight Negro members of Wisconsin's champion Big Ten Conference indoor track team, however, boycotted the meet. The track team coach said there would be no reprisals and the absentees announced they were returning to the team.

The state Senate, at Knowles' suggestion, approved a bill to withhold financial aid from college students convicted of disrupting campuses, and sent the measure to the state Assembly.

The Wisconsin division of the American Civil Liberties Union, whose state executive director said the senators acted "in an atmosphere of hysteria," urged the Assembly not to vote on the bill without holding a public hearing.

The demonstrations and picketing began with Negroes demanding an autonomous department of Negro affairs, special curriculum and full student control over hiring of instructors for Negro courses.

2,000 Auto Tires Recalled By Goodyear

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Two thousand automobile tires are being recalled by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. because of an incorrect load rating marking.

Goodyear said an upside-down "6" in a tire mold resulted in an incorrect load rating of 1,920 pounds being stamped on one side of the 8.25 X 14"All Weather IV" tires. The correct load rating of 1,602 pounds is stamped on the other side, it added.

Great Britain recognized the independence of the United States by the Treaty of Paris, signed in 1783 and ratified by the U.S. Congress Jan. 14, 1784.

Potters Go On Offensive Spree, Bury Ferry 101-59

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

By completing the home season unbeaten against Niles Friday night, a select group of Potters players has the distinction of never losing at home during their high school career.

Rich Steffen, John Johnson, Jerry Christian, Bill Montgomery, Dan Cunningham and Tom Chambers went unbeaten as members of the reserve squad two years ago, and for the past two years the varsity, of which these boys are prominent members, has not lost a home game.

Friday night was parents night, with the parents of varsity and reserve players and varsity and reserve cheerleaders introduced along with their sons or daughters.

John Cinacola, an assistant coach at Duquesne U., was at the game. East Liverpool's Al Bailey, the Dukes' freshman coach, has scouted other Potter games. Duquesne is interested in Jerry Christian.

Niles had a unique type of uniform that resembled stained glass windows. The Red Dragons, starting two sophomores and a junior, should be dramatically improved next year. One of the sophomores is coach Tom Cera's son Robin, who is only 5-4, but a deadly outside shot and fine ballhandler. At one point when Niles had the ball, the Potters' switching man-to-man defense put 6-5 Christian on Cera, which gave the fans a laugh.

There weren't as many signs on the walls for the Niles game as for the Salem game, but one good one was "Potter Pucker Power is the Kiss of Death".

MARTINS FERRY plays its basketball games on a stage. The floor is not too small, but the fans get an ankle-level view of the action.

Christian demonstrated his strength when he was guarded by heavy-set John Jackson, reserve Ferry center. Christian drove around Jackson, who fouled him, and still scored. Jackson had to leave the game with a sprained ankle.

THE RASH of fights at basketball games, which has hit East Liverpool, Beaver Local and Crestview recently, continued with a vengeance at Alliance Friday night. Officials called the game in the final minute of play when a second fight broke out. Visiting Massillon was awarded a 66-56 win.

MIDLAND'S Sim Hill has reentered the list of the Top 40 college basketball scorers in the country, ranking 35th with 23.2 points a game for West Texas State. Dave Sorenson of Ohio State is 21st. Larry Lewis of St. Francis continues to pace the nation in rebounding. St. Francis is fourth, Marshall eighth and West Virginia ninth in rebounding. Cincinati is 14th, Duquesne 17th, Kent State 18th and Miami 19th in defense.

Christian Has 32, Montgomery 25

BY TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

"We called the radio station with the score and they didn't believe us" said coach Clint McConnell after East Liverpool's basketball game at Martins Ferry Saturday night.

The person at the radio station couldn't be blamed too much for not believing the score. The normally defensive-minded Potters opened up their attack and ripped Martins Ferry 101-59.

The awesome offense was led by Mr. Inside, Jerry Christian, and Mr. Outside, Bill Montgomery. Roaming at will under the basket, Christian hit 14 of 17 field goal attempts and netted a career high of 32 points. Montgomery, connecting on 12 of 20 long shots, had a career high 25 points. Rick Steffen, also firing at long range, added 13 points, as East Liverpool hit 56 per cent to ourclass the Purple Riders, weakened through the loss of their top scorer, Sam Twardoski, due to a disciplinary problem.

Despite a brisk first half that saw the Potters take a 43-21 lead, the magic 100 - point mark seemed out of reach until the fourth period. East Liverpool racked up 10 points in the first 2:04 of the final stanza, to get to 83, but then Christian and Montgomery went to the bench. The substitutes stuttered, as the home team narrowed the gap from 85-43 to 87-51, and with 1:10 left it was 93-57. But Tom Chambers tipped in a shot, Jim Massey hit two baskets, and finally John Johnson hit a long shot at the final buzzer to push the score into three figures.

The 101 points was far from a Potter record. Three years ago, almost to the day, on Feb. 12, 1966, East Liverpool whipped Niles 119-52 at the M.A.

"I hated to score 100", said the defense - conscious McConnell, but Ferry set a running tempo and the Potters kept up with it. East Liverpool had a 40-30 rebounding edge, and forced 23 turnovers while committing only 10. As a result, they got off 82 shots, twice as many as the losers, who hit on 19 of 41 for 46 per cent. Dan Cunningham did an excellent job on defense, making several steals.

East Liverpool hit on practically everything it attempted. Shots from all over the floor went through the hoop as the Ferry defense was powerless to stop the high-powered attack. Because there were so few offensive rebounds, Christian was not high in this department, as Steffen led the Potters with 8.

Denny Lucas and Joe Henry scored 14 points each for the Riders and Rich Weiskircher added 12. East Liverpool is now 16-1 and Ferry 5-12.

The Potter reserves pushed their mark to 9-8 with a 63-41 win in the opener. East Liverpool played one of its best games of the season, committing only five turnovers while forcing 15 and controlling the boards 59-37. Each team shot 34 per cent, but the visitors had 74 attempts to 49 for the losers.

The East Liverpool reserves got balanced scoring, with Joe March leading the way with 15, Kevin LeMasters netting 12, Ralph Seevers 11 and Randy McVay 10. LeMasters grabbed 14 rebounds. Jeff Feorene had 10 points and 14 rebounds for the losers.

Tigers Edge Crusaders, Post 15-3 Season Mark

WELLSVILLE — Overcoming the loss of two regulars — Joe D'Angelo with an injury and John Bobalik with foul trouble —Wellsville rallied in the final period to defeat Steubenville Central 64-58 here Saturday night.

The Tigers ended the regular season with a 15-3 record, the best since the days of Bevo Francis in the early 1950s. Central is 8-8.

Rick Ross, starting in place of D'Angelo, who had injured an ankle against Toronto Friday night, led the way with 18 points. Bobalik, the Tigers' leading scorer, picked up his fourth foul early in the second period and netted only five points, all from the foul line. Jeff Ketchum replaced Bobalik and did a good job on the boards. Paul Martin added 15 points and Ken Kornbau 12. Brian Madden of the visitors took game honors with 20 and Mike Berarducci had 19. Martin and Berarducci each had 12 rebounds as Wellsville controlled the boards 44-37.

Winning coach Bob Dawson, who was thrown in the shower by his jubilant team after the win, had praise for the play of Ross and Ketchum.

Central led 21-15 early in the second period, for their biggest margin of the evening. The game was close all the way, with 10 ties and 15 lead changes.

With 1:30 to go in the contest Martin scored on a tip-in to break a 53-53 tie and give Wellsville the lead for good. The Tigers made only three field goals, but the Tigers won the game at the charity stripe.

The Wellsville reserves also completed a 15-3 year with a 61-42 win. John Lewis had 19 and Jeff McGraw 11 for the winners and Rick Alessi 13 for the losers.

Summary:

Columbiana Cagers Fall To Poland

POLAND — Columbiana completed a 3-15 season here Saturday night with a 58-47 loss to Poland.

The Clippers made a game of it for three periods, trailing only 42-37 going into the final stanza, but Jeff Laughlin netted 8 of his 22 points in the final period to enable the Bulldogs to pull away. After a seesaw first period, Poland took the lead for good at 12-10.

Ken Ekis backed Laughlin with 15 points. Jim Hineerman had 18 and Frank Ringel 12 for Columbiana.

Poland, the Tri - County League champ, ended 14-4 on the season.

Poland also took the reserve game, 72-42.

Pierce Wins Yogi Crown, Shaffer, Crooks Go 10-0

Turk Pierce won the Review Yogi championship for the fourth time in a row, but Bob Shaffer and Bill Crooks ended the Cage Yogi season on a high note by picking all 10 games correctly this week.

This display boosted Crooks to second and got Shaffer out of the cellar. Pierce went 9-1, and chief challenger Bob Duffy went 6-4. Rose Nuzzo and Lorin Howard were 8-2 and Pete Weaver 7-3. The consensus was 8-2.

Everyone was right on East Liverpool's 58-35 win over Niles and its 101-59 romp over Martins Ferry. Everyone was also right on Midland's 72-65 win over Rochester, Wellsville's 67-55 win over Toronto, Lisbon's 88-61 win over Minerva and Sebring's win over Lisbon.

Duffy tripped up on Sebring's 63-48 triumph over East Palestine. He joined with Nuzzo and Weaver in stumbling over Wellsville's 64-58 win over Steubenville Central. And he was with the consensus in guessing wrongly on Oak Glen's 63-52 win over Morgantown. Pierce, Shaffer and Crooks backed the Bears. Shaffer, Crooks and Nuzzo were right on Leetonia, a 53-52 winner over Columbiana, the other game in which the consensus failed. This was Pierce's only wrong choice.

Potters Go On Offensive Spree, Bury Ferry 101-59

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

By completing the home season unbeaten against Niles Friday night, a select group of Potters players has the distinction of never losing at home during their high school career.

Rich Steffen, John Johnson, Jerry Christian, Bill Montgomery, Dan Cunningham and Tom Chambers went unbeaten as members of the reserve squad two years ago, and for the past two years the varsity, of which these boys are prominent members, has not lost a home game.

Friday night was parents night, with the parents of varsity and reserve players and varsity and reserve cheerleaders introduced along with their sons or daughters.

John Cinacola, an assistant coach at Duquesne U., was at the game. East Liverpool's Al Bailey, the Dukes' freshman coach, has scouted other Potter games. Duquesne is interested in Jerry Christian.

Niles had a unique type of uniform that resembled stained glass windows. The Red Dragons, starting two sophomores and a junior, should be dramatically improved next year. One of the sophomores is coach Tom Cera's son Robin, who is only 5-4, but a deadly outside shot and fine ballhandler. At one point when Niles had the ball, the Potters' switching man-to-man defense put 6-5 Christian on Cera, which gave the fans a laugh.

There weren't as many signs on the walls for the Niles game as for the Salem game, but one good one was "Potter Pucker Power is the Kiss of Death".

MARTINS FERRY plays its basketball games on a stage. The floor is not too small, but the fans get an ankle-level view of the action.

Christian demonstrated his strength when he was guarded by heavy-set John Jackson, reserve Ferry center. Christian drove around Jackson, who fouled him, and still scored. Jackson had to leave the game with a sprained ankle.

THE RASH of fights at basketball games, which has hit East Liverpool, Beaver Local and Crestview recently, continued with a vengeance at Alliance Friday night. Officials called the game in the final minute of play when a second fight broke out. Visiting Massillon was awarded a 66-56 win.

MIDLAND'S Sim Hill has reentered the list of the Top 40 college basketball scorers in the country, ranking 35th with 23.2 points a game for West Texas State. Dave Sorenson of Ohio State is 21st. Larry Lewis of St. Francis continues to pace the nation in rebounding. St. Francis is fourth, Marshall eighth and West Virginia ninth in rebounding. Cincinati is 14th, Duquesne 17th, Kent State 18th and Miami 19th in defense.

Christian Has 32, Montgomery 25

BY TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

"We called the radio station with the score and they didn't believe us" said coach Clint McConnell after East Liverpool's basketball game at Martins Ferry Saturday night.

The person at the radio station couldn't be blamed too much for not believing the score. The normally defensive-minded Potters opened up their attack and ripped Martins Ferry 101-59.

The awesome offense was led by Mr. Inside, Jerry Christian, and Mr. Outside, Bill Montgomery. Roaming at will under the basket, Christian hit 14 of 17 field goal attempts and netted a career high of 32 points. Montgomery, connecting on 12 of 20 long shots, had a career high 25 points. Rick Steffen, also firing at long range, added 13 points, as East Liverpool hit 56 per cent to ourclass the Purple Riders, weakened through the loss of their top scorer, Sam Twardoski, due to a disciplinary problem.

Despite a brisk first half that saw the Potters take a 43-21 lead, the magic 100 - point mark seemed out of reach until the fourth period. East Liverpool racked up 10 points in the first 2:04 of the final stanza, to get to 83, but then Christian and Montgomery went to the bench. The substitutes stuttered, as the home team narrowed the gap from 85-43 to 87-51, and with 1:10 left it was 93-57. But Tom Chambers tipped in a shot, Jim Massey hit two baskets, and finally John Johnson hit a long shot at the final buzzer to push the score into three figures.

The 101 points was far from a Potter record. Three years ago, almost to the day, on Feb. 12, 1966, East Liverpool whipped Niles 119-52 at the M.A.

"I hated to score 100", said the defense - conscious McConnell, but Ferry set a running tempo and the Potters kept up with it. East Liverpool had a 40-30 rebounding edge, and forced 23 turnovers while committing only 10. As a result, they got off 82 shots, twice as many as the losers, who hit on 19 of 41 for 46 per cent. Dan Cunningham did an excellent job on defense, making several steals.

East Liverpool hit on practically everything it attempted. Shots from all over the floor went through the hoop as the Ferry defense was powerless to stop the high-powered attack. Because there were so few offensive rebounds, Christian was not high in this department, as Steffen led the Potters with 8.

Denny Lucas and Joe Henry scored 14 points each for the Riders and Rich Weiskircher added 12. East Liverpool is now 16-1 and Ferry 5-12.

The Potter reserves pushed their mark to 9-8 with a 63-41 win in the opener. East Liverpool played one of its best games of the season, committing only five turnovers while forcing 15 and controlling the boards 59-37. Each team shot 34 per cent, but the visitors had 74 attempts to 49 for the losers.

The East Liverpool reserves got balanced scoring, with Joe March leading the way with 15, Kevin LeMasters netting 12, Ralph Seevers 11 and Randy McVay 10. LeMasters grabbed 14 rebounds. Jeff Feorene had 10 points and 14 rebounds for the losers.

Tigers Edge Crusaders, Post 15-3 Season Mark

WELLSVILLE — Overcoming the loss of two regulars — Joe D'Angelo with an injury and John Bobalik with foul trouble —Wellsville rallied in the final period to defeat Steubenville Central 64-58 here Saturday night.

The Tigers ended the regular season with a 15-3 record, the best since the days of Bevo Francis in the early 1950s. Central is 8-8.

Rick Ross, starting in place of D'Angelo, who had injured an ankle against Toronto Friday night, led the way with 18 points. Bobalik, the Tigers' leading scorer, picked up his fourth foul early in the second period and netted only five points, all from the foul line. Jeff Ketchum replaced Bobalik and did a good job on the boards. Paul Martin added 15 points and Ken Kornbau 12. Brian Madden of the visitors took game honors with 20 and Mike Berarducci had 19. Martin and Berarducci each had 12 rebounds as Wellsville controlled the boards 44-37.

Winning coach Bob Dawson, who was thrown in the shower by his jubilant team after the win, had praise for the play of Ross and Ketchum.

Central led 21-15 early in the second period, for their biggest margin of the evening. The game was close all the way, with 10 ties and 15 lead changes.

With 1:30 to go in the contest Martin scored on a tip-in to break a 53-53 tie and give Wellsville the lead for good. The Tigers made only three field goals, but the Tigers won the game at the charity stripe.

The Wellsville reserves also completed a 15-3 year with a 61-42 win. John Lewis had 19 and Jeff McGraw 11 for the winners and Rick Alessi 13 for the losers.

Pierce Wins Yogi Crown, Shaffer, Crooks Go 10-0

Turk Pierce won the Review Yogi championship for the fourth time in a row, but Bob Shaffer and Bill Crooks ended the Cage Yogi season on a high note by picking all 10 games correctly this week.

This display boosted Crooks to second and got Shaffer out of the cellar. Pierce went 9-1, and chief challenger Bob Duffy went 6-4. Rose Nuzzo and Lorin Howard were 8-2 and Pete Weaver 7-3. The consensus was 8-2.

Everyone was right on East Liverpool's 58-35 win over Niles and its 101-59 romp over Martins Ferry. Everyone was also right on Midland's 72-65 win over Rochester. Wellsville's 67-55 win over Toronto, Lisbon's 88-61 win over Minerva and Sebring's win over Lisbon.

Duffy tripped up on Sebring's 63-48 triumph over East Palestine. He joined with Nuzzo and Weaver in stumbling over Wellsville's 64-58 win over Steubenville Central. And he was with the consensus in guessing wrongly on Oak Glen's 63-52 win over Morgantown. Pierce, Shaffer and Crooks backed the Bears. Shaffer, Crooks and Nuzzo were right on Leetonia, a 53-52 winner over Columbiana, the other game in which the consensus failed. This was Pierce's only wrong choice.

Kentucky, Tulsa, Purdue Face Conference Battles

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kentucky, Tulsa and Purdue, three of the nation's Top Ten college basketball teams, appeared to have conference titles and NCAA tournament bids locked up only a week ago, but suddenly three challengers have a foot in the door.

All three were beaten last week—Tulsa twice—and now Kentucky, No. 4, has Tennessee breathing down its neck in the Southeastern Conference; Tulsa, No. 7, now shares the Missouri Valley Conference lead with Louisville, and Purdue, No. 8, has Ohio State within grabbing distance in the Big Ten.

Several other conference races also opened up and the Top Ten, in fact, the Top 20 should undergo quite a shake-up this week as eight other teams were beaten, including second-ranked North Carolina and 10th-ranked Illinois.

UCLA, No. 1, and Santa Clara, No. 3, the only unbeaten major teams, however, avoided the upsets and rolled along with victories Saturday night.

Kentucky, 17-3, fell to 11-1 in the SEC by losing to Florida 82-81 Saturday afternoon. That left unranked Tennessee, 10-2 and 15-3, only a game back and the Volunteers and Wildcats meet in the season finale. However, right now Kentucky must get by tough Georgia tonight at Athens and Tennessee plays at Florida.

Tulsa, 18-4, dropped to 10-2 in the MVC by losing at Louisville 83-81 in overtime and then Saturday at Cincinnati 76-63 while Louisville followed with a 65-62 triumph at Wichita State for a 10-2, 16-3 mark.

Tulsa hosts Drake and Louisville entertains Cincinnati Saturday.

Purdue's Big Ten lead was sliced in half to one game when Ohio State beat the Boilermakers 88-85 before Purdue, 7-1, beat Wisconsin 87-69 and 16th-ranked Ohio State, 6-2, topped Minnesota 58-41 Saturday.

Illinois, 4-4 in the conference, fell out of contention by losing to Michigan 92-87 and Michigan State 75-70, but the Illini get a shot at Ohio State at Champaign Tuesday. Purdue will be at Indiana that night.

Santa Clara, 21-0 after beating San Francisco 72-47 Saturday, appears a good bet to replace North Carolina behind UCLA. The Tar Heels, 19-2, lost to South Carolina 68-66 before rebounding Saturday against Clemson 107-81.

UCLA, 19-0, rushed away from Washington State in the second half for a 83-59 triumph as Lew Alcindor scored 22 points.

The rest of the Top Ten got through unscathed Saturday. LaSalle, No. 5, crushed St. Joseph's Pa., 84-67; Davidson, No. 6, bombed Furman 103-67, and St. John's, No. 9, nudged Fordham 51-46, all after earlier victories in the week.

And in the Second Ten, 13th-ranked Duquesne made up a 13-point first half deficit behind Barry Nelson and tripped 11th-ranked Villanova 70-59 at Pittsburgh Sunday.

Unranked Kansas State climbed into the Big Eight race with unheralded Missouri by upsetting 14th-ranked Colorado 70-68 Saturday while the Tigers were surprising 12th-rated Kansas 56-55.

Dayton, No. 17, dropped a 79-71 decision to Florida State; 18th-ranked Marquette lost to St. Bonaventure 84-62 before beating DePaul 66-55, and Baylor, No. 19, dropped behind Texas AM in the Southwest conference by losing to Rice 75-73 before whipping Texas 63-58.

New Mexico State, No. 15, edged North Texas State 69-68.

Ohio U. Nips Miami, Tighten MAC Race

By The Associated Press

One-point upsets in Ohio College basketball play brought Ohio University within one game of Mid - American Conference leading Miami and almost certainly dropped Central State out of the national small college rankings.

Ohio U. edged powerful Miami 60-59 Saturday in what Redskins Coach Tates Locke aptly described as a "game of inches." And Cleveland State handed Central State its second upset of the week, 41-40.

Elsewhere, Ohio State overcame a first half Minnesota slowdown to whip the Gophers 58-41; Cincinnati dropped Tulsa into a tie for first in the Missouri Valley Conference, 76-63; Florida State edged Dayton 79-71 and Toledo downed Kent State 66-58.

Miami, now 8-2 in the conference, and Ohio, 7 - 3, have just two MAC games left apiece —one at home and one away. And as Locke said after Saturday's defeat at Ohio U., "you never know about this conference, but everybody seems to be tough at home."

And though Ohio was, with Gerald McKee leading the way on a 20-point binge and teammate Greg McDivitt close behind with 15.

Miami's Walt Williams, who ended up with 15 points, hit two free throws to make the score 60-59 Ohio with 1:20 left. Miami then stalled, missed two shots and muffed its chance to clinch the MAC title.

Central State, ranked 15th in last week's AP small college poll, was upset 82-65 Wednesday by Thomas Moore of Kentucky. Saturday, Cleveland State held the visiting Marauders scoreless in the final two minutes to hand Central its fifth loss in 20 games. Cleveland State is 9-13.

The effect on Ohio State of Minnesota's slowdown was evident in the 23-16 intermission margin favoring the Gophers. Neither team scored for 4½ minutes and the Bucks did not tally for 6½. But it was all Ohio in the second half.

Early in the period, the Bucks went on a 10-point scoring spree to open up a 38-29 lead. They followed this with a nine point binge for a 47-31 advantage and went on from there for their sixth Big Ten victory against two losses—one game behind first-place Purdue.

Jim Ard put away a game-high 23 points to spark the Cincinnati Bearcats past Tulsa. The Golden Hurricanes now have a 10-2 MVC record, the same as Louisville. Cincinnati is 7-5.

Toledo's speedy Steve Mix scored 30 points and his rocket teammates held Kent's top scorer, Tom Lagodich, to one point as Toledo pickup its fourth MAC victory in nine contests. Kent evened its record at 5-5.

Bowling Green avenged a 100-98 four overtime loss three weeks ago and pounded Marshall 101-80 in the Mid-Am. Jim Penix hit 22 points and Jim Connally 19 as the Falcons went over the 100 mark for the first time this season.

Dayton and Florida scrapped to the wire in a game that saw the score knotted 11 times, but in the end the Seminoles' press and ball handling carried them past the visitors. Dan Sadlier managed 19 points and 12 rebounds for the Flyers.

Xavier routed the University of Detroit 104-67 behind Luther Rackley's 20 points and the Musketeers' 58.7 per cent shooting. Detroit was playing without Olympic gold medal winner Spencer Haywood, who was suspended after an incident with a referee Wednesday at Toledo and second leading scorer Larry Moore, who was sick.

No. 2 small college Ashland played stall ball with Waynesburg College for a 28-14 victory. Top scorer Kevin Wilson of Ashland scored nine points.

Ted Johnson scored 25 points and Bob Harringer 22 to lead Baldwin - Wallace past Capital 96-81 in the Ohio Conference. Kenyon edged Mount Union 82-78 in the second overtime of another Ohio Conference match. John Dunlop and John Rinka put away 28 points apiece for the victors.

Ohio Conference celler-dweller Ohio Wesleyan hit a 65 per cent clip from the field to down Otterbein 82-72. Conference-leading Wittenberg downed Denison 82-67 to remain one game ahead of Baldwin-Wallace. Two other Ohio Conference matches saw Hiram whip Oberlin 84-59 and Marietta edge Heidelberg 86-85.

In a pair of Mid-Ohio Conference matches, Defiance pasted Wilmington 92-72 behind Dan Terhune's 26 points and Findlay trounced Malone 111 - 78. Frank Minnig scored 30 points for Findlay, which outscored Malone 64 - 35 in the second half.

Muskingum led from the first basket in an easy 89-67 victory over Slippery Rock, despite 27 points by the losers' Gary Neunschwander. Rick Harmer paced the Muskies with 18 points. Earlham took an early lead and held on to put Bluffton away 88-76.

Cedarville beat Rio Grande 107-95 and Ohio Northern, paced by Dan Foster's 37 points, downed host Hillsdale of Michigan. Case Tech shaded Thiel 59-53. Youngstown outscored Wayne State 17-2 in a seven - minute stretch of the first half on its way to a 79-62 victory. And Wooster trounced Point Park, Pa., 93-79.

Patience To Be Problem For Manager Williams

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ted Williams—baseball's fierce, feuding perfectionist-concedes his first problem as manager of the hapless Washington Senators will be patience.

Attorneys met today to put the wrapping on the rich package of stock that will make Williams the part-owner as well as manager of the Senators in an apparent million-dollar deal.

Although the formal announcement by the Senators at a news conference is not expected before Tuesday, Williams already is itching to get back into the game.

"I'm ready to go," he said. "I'm really getting excited about it."

Williams, baseball's greatest living hitter with a career average of .344, will be taking over a last-place team that hasn't been able to escape the American League's second division for 22 straight years.

The Boston Red Sox slugger, still remembered for historic feuds with fans, admits his nerves may be on trial with the sickly Senators.

"I remember the last few years when I would sit out the second game of doubleheaders. I would be a nervous wreck," Williams said. "The emotional part is going to be the problem. The patience part."

Spring training is only a week away for Washington, and Williams, after eight years outside baseball, is finding not only the rest of the league but even the Senators' roster crowded with strange names he doesnt' know.

Williams said he is anxious to take up the challenge, to prove himself again as manager after having been one of the game's greatest players.

The Hall of Fame hitter joked. "I may end up with an ulcer. I've seen these managers and I've asked them how they feel and they say 'fine'—but they look awful."

The Senators are prepared to sign Williams to a long-range contract running from three to five years at something beyond $50,000 annually.

Williams will also get options to buy a bundle of stock in the club—perhaps 10 per cent, or $900,000 worth.

The Senators' new owner, Robert E. Short, who bought the club less than a month ago, wouldn't discuss reports that Williams will be baseball's first million-dollar manager.

"I don't know how they figure it. I don't want to say anything about it now," Short said.

Short, a Minnesota millionaire, was flying back here from his home later today. Williams spent what could be his last peaceful weekend for a long time at his retreat in the Florida Keys.

Littler Wins Phoenix, Eyes Tucson Repeat

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Deft-putting Gene Littler, winner of the $100,000 Phoenix Open golf title, with a record 263, now seeks to duplicate his consecutive Arizona victories of 10 years ago.

The 38-year-old from San Diego won the Phoenix Open a decade ago with a 268 and then captured the title at Tucson where this year's tournament starts on Thursday.

"I'd say it was probably the best 72-holes I've ever played," declared Littler of his tours over the 6,389-yard Arizona Country Club course. On Saturday he equalled the course record with a nine-under-par 62 and he finished the 72 holes 21 strokes below regulation figures.

Littler still came up to the 18th needing a par to win since Miller Barber, Don January and Billy Maxwell each had carded a 265 and waited to see if there would be a play-off. When the three ended up in a tie, they each received $7,733.

Baseball Negotiations Progressing

NEW YORK (AP) — After reports of some progress during the weekend representatives of major league teams and their players were scheduled to meet again today in another effort to settle a boycott that threatens the 1969 season.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association, was expected to answer the owners' latest pension proposal.

At the same time, the New York Yankees prepared to become the second team to open advance spring training camp, with or without boycotting veterans.

Andy Kerr Of Colgate Dead At 90

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP) — Andrew 'Andy' Kerr, fondly known during his 18 years as Colgate University's head football coach as The canny Scot of the Chenango, died Sunday in Tucson, Ariz. He was 90.

The small, wiry protege of Glenn S. 'Pop' Warner led the Colgate Red Raiders to 95 victories, 50 defeats and seven ties. The 95th was on Thanksgiving Day 1946, when they beat Brown, and Kerr, having reached the school's mandatory retirement age of 68, retired after his 152nd game as their coach.

In Tucson, Dr. Delbert Secrist said Kerr apparently died from hardening of the arteries and a leak in his abdominal aorta.

Secrist, who played as a right end for Kerr at Washington and Jefferson, said he had been treating his former coach for diabetis. He said Kerr went into a diabetic coma Wednesday night, but apparently came out of it Saturday.

"I am sure anyone who ever played for Andy would have given him his right arm," Secrist said. "He was a great guy."

Arizona Mortuary said the body would be sent back to Hamilton, N.Y., for services and burial.

Kerr and razzle dazzle football are synonymous. His facination with the Warner style began in his school days, when his stockman father moved the family from Kerr's native Cheyenee, Wyo., to Carlisle, Pa., Andy's home town.

Kentucky, Tulsa, Purdue Face Conference Battles

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kentucky, Tulsa and Purdue, three of the nation's Top Ten college basketball teams, appeared to have conference titles and NCAA tournament bids locked up only a week ago, but suddenly three challengers have a foot in the door.

All three were beaten last week—Tulsa twice—and now Kentucky, No. 4, has Tennessee breathing down its neck in the Southeastern Conference; Tulsa, No. 7, now shares the Missouri Valley Conference lead with Louisville, and Purdue, No. 8, has Ohio State within grabbing distance in the Big Ten.

Several other conference races also opened up and the Top Ten, in fact, the Top 20 should undergo quite a shake-up this week as eight other teams were beaten, including second-ranked North Carolina and 10th-ranked Illinois.

UCLA, No. 1, and Santa Clara, No. 3, the only unbeaten major teams, however, avoided the upsets and rolled along with victories Saturday night.

Kentucky, 17-3, fell to 11-1 in the SEC by losing to Florida 82-81 Saturday afternoon. That left unranked Tennessee, 10-2 and 15-3, only a game back and the Volunteers and Wildcats meet in the season finale. However, right now Kentucky must get by tough Georgia tonight at Athens and Tennessee plays at Florida.

Tulsa, 18-4, dropped to 10-2 in the MVC by losing at Louisville 83-81 in overtime and then Saturday at Cincinnati 76-63 while Louisville followed with a 65-62 triumph at Wichita State for a 10-2, 16-3 mark.

Tulsa hosts Drake and Louisville entertains Cincinnati Saturday.

Purdue's Big Ten lead was sliced in half to one game when Ohio State beat the Boilermakers 88-85 before Purdue, 7-1, beat Wisconsin 87-69 and 16th-ranked Ohio State, 6-2, topped Minnesota 58-41 Saturday.

Illinois, 4-4 in the conference, fell out of contention by losing to Michigan 92-87 and Michigan State 75-70, but the Illini get a shot at Ohio State at Champaign Tuesday. Purdue will be at Indiana that night.

Santa Clara, 21-0 after beating San Francisco 72-47 Saturday, appears a good bet to replace North Carolina behind UCLA. The Tar Heels, 19-2, lost to South Carolina 68-66 before rebounding Saturday against Clemson 107-81.

UCLA, 19-0, rushed away from Washington State in the second half for a 83-59 triumph as Lew Alcindor scored 22 points.

The rest of the Top Ten got through unscathed Saturday. LaSalle, No. 5, crushed St. Joseph's Pa., 84-67; Davidson, No. 6, bombed Furman 103-67, and St. John's, No. 9, nudged Fordham 51-46, all after earlier victories in the week.

And in the Second Ten, 13th-ranked Duquesne made up a 13-point first half deficit behind Barry Nelson and tripped 11th-ranked Villanova 70-59 at Pittsburgh Sunday.

Unranked Kansas State climbed into the Big Eight race with unheralded Missouri by upsetting 14th-ranked Colorado 70-68 Saturday while the Tigers were surprising 12th-rated Kansas 56-55.

Dayton, No. 17, dropped a 79-71 decision to Florida State; 18th-ranked Marquette lost to St. Bonaventure 84-62 before beating DePaul 66-55, and Baylor, No. 19, dropped behind Texas AM in the Southwest conference by losing to Rice 75-73 before whipping Texas 63-58.

New Mexico State, No. 15, edged North Texas State 69-68.

Ohio U. Nips Miami, Tighten MAC Race

By The Associated Press

One-point upsets in Ohio College basketball play brought Ohio University within one game of Mid - American Conference leading Miami and almost certainly dropped Central State out of the national small college rankings.

Ohio U. edged powerful Miami 60-59 Saturday in what Redskins Coach Tates Locke aptly described as a "game of inches." And Cleveland State handed Central State its second upset of the week, 41-40.

Elsewhere, Ohio State overcame a first half Minnesota slowdown to whip the Gophers 58-41; Cincinnati dropped Tulsa into a tie for first in the Missouri Valley Conference, 76-63; Florida State edged Dayton 79-71 and Toledo downed Kent State 66-58.

Miami, now 8-2 in the conference, and Ohio, 7 - 3, have just two MAC games left apiece —one at home and one away. And as Locke said after Saturday's defeat at Ohio U., "you never know about this conference, but everybody seems to be tough at home."

And though Ohio was, with Gerald McKee leading the way on a 20-point binge and teammate Greg McDivitt close behind with 15.

Miami's Walt Williams, who ended up with 15 points, hit two free throws to make the score 60-59 Ohio with 1:20 left. Miami then stalled, missed two shots and muffed its chance to clinch the MAC title.

Central State, ranked 15th in last week's AP small college poll, was upset 82-65 Wednesday by Thomas Moore of Kentucky. Saturday, Cleveland State held the visiting Marauders scoreless in the final two minutes to hand Central its fifth loss in 20 games. Cleveland State is 9-13.

The effect on Ohio State of Minnesota's slowdown was evident in the 23-16 intermission margin favoring the Gophers. Neither team scored for 4½ minutes and the Bucks did not tally for 6½. But it was all Ohio in the second half.

Early in the period, the Bucks went on a 10-point scoring spree to open up a 38-29 lead. They followed this with a nine point binge for a 47-31 advantage and went on from there for their sixth Big Ten victory against two losses—one game behind first-place Purdue.

Jim Ard put away a game-high 23 points to spark the Cincinnati Bearcats past Tulsa. The Golden Hurricanes now have a 10-2 MVC record, the same as Louisville. Cincinnati is 7-5.

Toledo's speedy Steve Mix scored 30 points and his rocket teammates held Kent's top scorer, Tom Lagodich, to one point as Toledo pickup its fourth MAC victory in nine contests. Kent evened its record at 5-5.

Bowling Green avenged a 100-98 four overtime loss three weeks ago and pounded Marshall 101-80 in the Mid-Am. Jim Penix hit 22 points and Jim Connally 19 as the Falcons went over the 100 mark for the first time this season.

Dayton and Florida scrapped to the wire in a game that saw the score knotted 11 times, but in the end the Seminoles' press and ball handling carried them past the visitors. Dan Sadlier managed 19 points and 12 rebounds for the Flyers.

Xavier routed the University of Detroit 104-67 behind Luther Rackley's 20 points and the Musketeers' 58.7 per cent shooting. Detroit was playing without Olympic gold medal winner Spencer Haywood, who was suspended after an incident with a referee Wednesday at Toledo and second leading scorer Larry Moore, who was sick.

No. 2 small college Ashland played stall ball with Waynesburg College for a 28-14 victory. Top scorer Kevin Wilson of Ashland scored nine points.

Ted Johnson scored 25 points and Bob Harringer 22 to lead Baldwin - Wallace past Capital 96-81 in the Ohio Conference. Kenyon edged Mount Union 82-78 in the second overtime of another Ohio Conference match. John Dunlop and John Rinka put away 28 points apiece for the victors.

Ohio Conference celler-dweller Ohio Wesleyan hit a 65 per cent clip from the field to down Otterbein 82-72. Conference-leading Wittenberg downed Denison 82-67 to remain one game ahead of Baldwin-Wallace. Two other Ohio Conference matches saw Hiram whip Oberlin 84-59 and Marietta edge Heidelberg 86-85.

In a pair of Mid-Ohio Conference matches, Defiance pasted Wilmington 92-72 behind Dan Terhune's 26 points and Findlay trounced Malone 111 - 78. Frank Minnig scored 30 points for Findlay, which outscored Malone 64 - 35 in the second half.

Muskingum led from the first basket in an easy 89-67 victory over Slippery Rock, despite 27 points by the losers' Gary Neunschwander. Rick Harmer paced the Muskies with 18 points. Earlham took an early lead and held on to put Bluffton away 88-76.

Cedarville beat Rio Grande 107-95 and Ohio Northern, paced by Dan Foster's 37 points, downed host Hillsdale of Michigan. Case Tech shaded Thiel 59-53. Youngstown outscored Wayne State 17-2 in a seven - minute stretch of the first half on its way to a 79-62 victory. And Wooster trounced Point Park, Pa., 93-79.

Patience To Be Problem For Manager Williams

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ted Williams—baseball's fierce, feuding perfectionist-concedes his first problem as manager of the hapless Washington Senators will be patience.

Attorneys met today to put the wrapping on the rich package of stock that will make Williams the part-owner as well as manager of the Senators in an apparent million-dollar deal.

Although the formal announcement by the Senators at a news conference is not expected before Tuesday, Williams already is itching to get back into the game.

"I'm ready to go," he said. "I'm really getting excited about it."

Williams, baseball's greatest living hitter with a career average of .344, will be taking over a last-place team that hasn't been able to escape the American League's second division for 22 straight years.

The Boston Red Sox slugger, still remembered for historic feuds with fans, admits his nerves may be on trial with the sickly Senators.

"I remember the last few years when I would sit out the second game of doubleheaders. I would be a nervous wreck," Williams said. "The emotional part is going to be the problem. The patience part."

Spring training is only a week away for Washington, and Williams, after eight years outside baseball, is finding not only the rest of the league but even the Senators' roster crowded with strange names he doesnt' know.

Williams said he is anxious to take up the challenge, to prove himself again as manager after having been one of the game's greatest players.

The Hall of Fame hitter joked. "I may end up with an ulcer. I've seen these managers and I've asked them how they feel and they say 'fine'—but they look awful."

The Senators are prepared to sign Williams to a long-range contract running from three to five years at something beyond $50,000 annually.

Williams will also get options to buy a bundle of stock in the club—perhaps 10 per cent, or $900,000 worth.

The Senators' new owner, Robert E. Short, who bought the club less than a month ago, wouldn't discuss reports that Williams will be baseball's first million-dollar manager.

"I don't know how they figure it. I don't want to say anything about it now," Short said.

Short, a Minnesota millionaire, was flying back here from his home later today. Williams spent what could be his last peaceful weekend for a long time at his retreat in the Florida Keys.

Littler Wins Phoenix, Eyes Tucson Repeat

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Deft-putting Gene Littler, winner of the $100,000 Phoenix Open golf title, with a record 263, now seeks to duplicate his consecutive Arizona victories of 10 years ago.

The 38-year-old from San Diego won the Phoenix Open a decade ago with a 268 and then captured the title at Tucson where this year's tournament starts on Thursday.

"I'd say it was probably the best 72-holes I've ever played," declared Littler of his tours over the 6,389-yard Arizona Country Club course. On Saturday he equalled the course record with a nine-under-par 62 and he finished the 72 holes 21 strokes below regulation figures.

Littler still came up to the 18th needing a par to win since Miller Barber, Don January and Billy Maxwell each had carded a 265 and waited to see if there would be a play-off. When the three ended up in a tie, they each received $7,733.

Baseball Negotiations Progressing

NEW YORK (AP) — After reports of some progress during the weekend representatives of major league teams and their players were scheduled to meet again today in another effort to settle a boycott that threatens the 1969 season.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association, was expected to answer the owners' latest pension proposal.

At the same time, the New York Yankees prepared to become the second team to open advance spring training camp, with or without boycotting veterans.

Andy Kerr Of Colgate Dead At 90

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP) — Andrew 'Andy' Kerr, fondly known during his 18 years as Colgate University's head football coach as The canny Scot of the Chenango, died Sunday in Tucson, Ariz. He was 90.

The small, wiry protege of Glenn S. 'Pop' Warner led the Colgate Red Raiders to 95 victories, 50 defeats and seven ties. The 95th was on Thanksgiving Day 1946, when they beat Brown, and Kerr, having reached the school's mandatory retirement age of 68, retired after his 152nd game as their coach.

In Tucson, Dr. Delbert Secrist said Kerr apparently died from hardening of the arteries and a leak in his abdominal aorta.

Secrist, who played as a right end for Kerr at Washington and Jefferson, said he had been treating his former coach for diabetis. He said Kerr went into a diabetic coma Wednesday night, but apparently came out of it Saturday.

"I am sure anyone who ever played for Andy would have given him his right arm," Secrist said. "He was a great guy."

Arizona Mortuary said the body would be sent back to Hamilton, N.Y., for services and burial.

Kerr and razzle dazzle football are synonymous. His facination with the Warner style began in his school days, when his stockman father moved the family from Kerr's native Cheyenee, Wyo., to Carlisle, Pa., Andy's home town.

Biafra Plans To Seek U.S. Diplomatic Backing

UMUAHIA, Biafra (AP) — After getting a measure of support from France, Biafra is going after the diplomatic jackpot-backing from the United States.

The accession of the Nixon Administration, a sharp increase in private and government relief aid from the United States for refugees and visits by U.S. congressmen have given the Biafrans the idea that the time is ripe for wooing Washington.

The Biafrans were pleased by the visit of the first official U.S. congressional delegation to go to both sides in the Nigerian civil war. The delegation, headed by Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr., D-Mich, left Saturday night after a two-day stay.

Earlier Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y, visited both Lagos and Biafra. He said he would report to President Nixon and to Secretary of State William Rogers on his return.

The avowed aim of both visits was to study ways of relieving famine. But the Biafrans are confident the congressmen will report on the political and military situation as well.

For the American visitors, Lt. Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu and Biafra's other leaders had one main theme—they regard relief as "a palliative at best," and say the United States should re-evaluate its entire policy toward Nigeria and Biafra.

The Biafrans have been vague and at times contradictory in saying what they want from Washington.

Ojukwu has said the United States has "a great potential for peace" in the region and can be a mediator if it acts quickly. But outright support would please most Biafrans more.

Only a few months ago, the Biafrans were condemning the United States almost as strongly as they do Britain, because American recoilless rifles were captured from the Nigerians. Now the Biafran leaders say they are "prepared to believe" that American arms for Nigeira was never a matter of U.S. policy.

Britain has supplied arms to the federal government in great quantity. The Biafrans do not seem to expect important support from diplomatic quarters other than the United States at the present time. They say they have "given up" on the British government, and that there is no hope of the African nations settling the war because "outside powers"—Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States—bear responsibility for the conflict.

The Biafrans say they are immensely grateful to President Charles de Gaulle for describing Biafra as a "reality" and giving them aid. But they say this support has caused other problems.

"Now the British government presents itself to its people as the protector of British interest in Nigeria against the French," said one official.

The Biafrans say they realize Washington is in a ticklish situation, with both the Soviet Union and its old ally—Britain—supporting the Nigerian federation from which Biafra proclaimed its independence in July 1967.

But Biafran military men speak openly of their hope of getting arms from America. Government leaders say withdrawal of U.S. backing for British policy would be enough.

The Biafrans believe American public opinion is swinging their way and that President Nixon, after a reappraisal of policy, will find support for Biafra in America's interests.

They are hoping the Nixon Administration—which they consider to be more staunch in its anticommunism than the Johnson Administration was—will respond to the Biafran argument that the Soviet Union is becoming firmly entrenched on the federal side and might secure an important foothold in Africa. Moscow has supplied the MIG and Ilyushin jets with which the Nigerians do most of their bombing in Biafra.

Laird Sifting Pentagon's Role In Domestic Affairs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has asked President Nixon's top urban affairs advisers to examine proposals by his Democratic predecessors for continued Pentagon involvement in efforts to overcome the problems of the nation's big cities.

Under the Johnson administration, the Defense Department moved into the domestic social-economic field in a big way and Laird has to decide whether to continue that involvement.

Before making that decision he wants to know from the Urban Affairs Council whether programs inherited from the Democrats might fit into President Nixon's plans for handling the problems of the poor and black ghettos of the cities.

In one of his final acts as defense secretary, Clark M. Clifford last month turned a report over to Laird containing hundreds of ideas for the Pentagon "to assist in alleviating serious domestic problems without detracting from its primary defense mission."

Some critics have suggested the Defense Department ought to stay clear of social-economic problems and devote its full resources to the nation's military programs.

Laird has said the Defense Department should give aid in domestic problems whenever possible, but he indicated non-military activities must be secondary.

A spokesman for the Urban Affairs Council said the group, made up of cabinet officers and other top government officials, has scheduled the Pentagon package for consideration within the next couple of weeks.

Some of the major domestic-aid efforts started recently by Pentagon include:

—Expansion of contract awards to firms for work performed in ghetto areas.

—Encouragement to defense contractors to provide special training for unskilled workers in large metropolitan areas, with cost credit in connection with pricing of defense orders.

—"Project Referral", a computerized service matching the skills of retiring military personnel with job opportunities available in the civilian life.

—Technical help in developing new methodh of home construction.

2 Boys Perish In Home Blaze

FOSTORIA, Ohio (AP)—Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jan Wetherill perished Sunday in a fire that destroyed the family's home here.

Dead were Bryan, 10, and Eric, 5, whose bodies were found on the second floor of the two-story frame home.

Wetherill said he awoke to the smell of smoke and helped his wife, Marie, and 2-year - old daughter, Susie, outside.

Smoke and intense heat prevented him from going back into the house.

When firemen arrived, two of them entered the house wearing oxygen masks and found one of the boys on a couch in the bedroom and the other face down in the bathtub with the water running.

Junior Editors Quiz on DAMS

QUESTION: How can dams be built, considering that the flow of water is in the way?

* * * *

ANSWER: One doesn't just dump a lot of concrete in a river when building a dam. The first thing is to divert the stream or river so the place where the dam is to be built will be dry. No water will then touch the concrete and it will set up hard. Diverting the water is done in different ways. Sometimes large pipes or tunnels are taken under the site, and the dam is built on top. Often, the water is diverted to one side. In the upper picture, the river has been pushed to the far side by cofferdams, which are temporary wooden walls of strongly braced piles and planks. A special tunnel has been drilled around the end of the site where the dam is being built. The water directed by the cofferdam is pouring through this and appearing at lower left. After the dam is constructed, the cofferdam is removed, the tunnel filled and a fine lake is built up by the dam. Dams are extremely important to us. Through them we can store vast amounts of water, which can be released in dry periods. Dams prevent disastrous floods, furnish power to generate electricity and provide fine recreational areas.
